WILSON AND MARSHALL RE-NOMINATED BY ACCLAMATION 'MIDST JOYOUS DEMONSTRATION

MENTION OF PRESIDENT'S NAME STARTS AN UPROAR LASTING OVER 30 MINUTES

Band, Exhausted of Its List of National Airs, Turns to "Tipperary," While the Throng Joins in the Chorus—Suffragists Take Part in the Demonstration—No Ballots Whatever Taken in Making Nominations — Business Not Yet Finished.

BRYAN THRILLS THE CONVENTION AS HE REVIEWS THE RECORD MADE BY THE PRESENT ADMINISTRATION

Declares Democratic Party Has Broken the Back of Wall Street—Platform Not Completed, and Convention Will Meet Again Today for Ratification—James and Glynn to Notify Wilson and Marshall—Nominations Effected at Midnight.

Coliseum, St. Louis, June 15. — William Jennings Bryan, who addressed the Democratic convention tonight, concluded at 10:07, after having spoken for 45 minutes. He was loudly cheered.

The roll of the states was called at 10:14 for nominations. Alabama yielded to New Jersey, and Judge John W. Wescott nominated President Wilson.

Judge Wescott spoke very slowly. At the rate he uttered his first three hundred words it would have required about an hour and twenty minutes to conclude.

The delegates were attentive and quiet as Judge Wescott proceeded, but the galleries were impatient.

"Name him, name him," came cries from the galleriees, and Judge Wescott hurried his speech.

As he closed at 10:49 with a mention of the name of "Woodrow Wilson," the crowd broke into a great demonstration. Moving picture flash lights blazed and flags were paraded in front of the stand. The band played "The Star Spangled Banner," while a huge banner bearing the President's likeness, was unfurled from the roof.

President Wilson and Vice-President Marshall were nominated by acclamation, the ticket being completed four minutes before midnight.

Contrary to expectations, the convention did not finish its work, because the platform was not ready, and it will meet again at 11 o clock Friday morning.

Delegates Begin Parade.

The delegates began a parade bearing state stanchions. The crowd rose to its feet. Many delegates stood on their chairs. "Dixie" and other melodies by the band evoked fresh bursts of cheering.

Chairman James yielded the chair during the demonstration to Representative Heflin, of Alabama. Women delegates were among the paraders. Senators and representatives helped carry banners. Senator Hughes personally bore the New Jersey banner.

Sergeant-at-Arms Martin stirred up the enthusiasm by waving the Texas "Lone Star" flag, hanged it over the heads of the crowd from the chairman's rostrum. Other state flags were taken to the platform.

The crowd joined in singing a medley including "How Dry I Am," "Old Black Joe," "The Red, White and Blue," and others.

After the demonstration had been under way 30 minutes, New York and some other delegates resumed their seats.

Waving a cane over the rail at the chairman's desk Senator Hughes renewed the clamor by leading three cheers for the President.

Band Becomes Exhausted.

The band exhausted the list of popular national airs, then turned to "Tipperary," and the crowd joined in the chorus. Then the musicians went back to American airs.

Some of the delegates stopped long enough to drain pop bottles and then went back at it again.

The band was so vigorous keeping up the din that the musicians went short of breath, so they laid back and let the bass drummer perform alone for a while. He belabored his drum industriously until the bandsmen got their second wind and then went back to "Tipperary."

There was no attempt to control the crowd. Men and women overran the platform and the press sections at will. The passages to the telegraph rooms were so packed with persons who had no business in the vicinity that only those who had their telegraph instruments on the platform could send the news of the convention to the outside world. The police made no effort to control the situation.

Suffragists Take Part.

The crowd roared when several woman suffrage workers with golden umbrellas and yellow sweaters who paraded the platform held a suffrage meeting over the head of Representative Heflin, of Alabama, one of the most vigorous "antis" in Congress. He apparently enjoyed the situation.

The New York delegates who had been seated were again forced to arise

Bryan Declares a United Party Is Ready to Enter Battle For Wilson

Coliseum, St. Louis, June 15.—At 9:15 tonight the Democratic convention was called to order by Chairman James. The Rev. W. J. Hardesty, chaplain of the Missouri senate, offered prayer. After the prayer the crowd renewed its demands for a speech from Bryan.

The Coliseum was so full that the fire department took charge of the entrances and permitted no more to come. Mr. Bryan, however, managed to get by and got an uproarious reception. Senator James learned of the Nebraskan's plight and rescued him. Outside, meanwhile, the crush had become so great that the police fairly battled with beseiging throngs. Several arrests were made.

Senator Thompson moved a suspension of the rules to permit Mr. Bryan to speak. There were some "noes" but the chairman ruled two-thirds had voted in favor.

A committee, headed by Senator Kern, escorted Mr. Bryan to the speaker's place while the floor and galleries roared their approval.

Senator James introduced Mr. Bryan as "one of the leading citizens of the world and America's greatest Democrat."

Mr. Bryan expressed his appreciation of the honor conferred by the invitation.

Convention a Love Feast.

"Every Democratic convention is a love feast to me," he said. "It gives me an opportunity to meet and renew acquaintances with men with whom I have been associated in politics for more than 20 years."

Reviewing the struggles of the party, Mr. Bryan said:

"After 16 years of waiting, our party entered the White House, and fortunately we won the Senate and House at the same time. Our party become responsible for national affairs, and now we come after three years of labor to make our plans for the future, and to submit to the American people the claims of our party to continued confidence.

"Whatever differences of opinion may exist, or may have existed, as to particular measures or particular acts, we are here to begin the fight of 1916, a united party in every state in the Union, ready for battle.

Reason for People's Faith.

"Today those who stand for the Democratic party are able to go before this

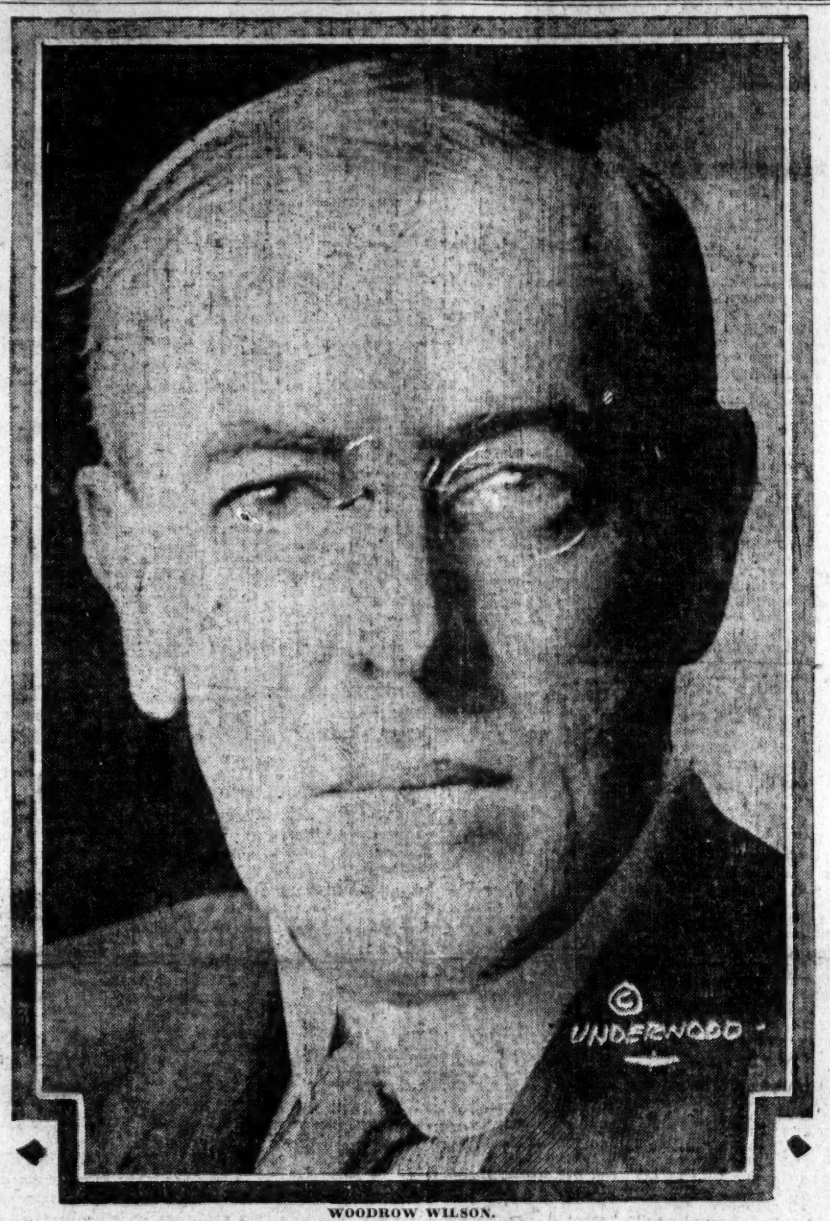
RE-NOMINATED FOR PRESIDENT BY DEMOCRATS LAST NIGHT



WOODROW WILSON.

MORE THAN 150,000 AUSTRIANS TAKEN

Since the Beginning of the Russian Offensive Movement in Volhynia and Galicia.

NO CHECK IN THE ADVANCE

In Addition to Prisoners, 163 Cannon, 266 Machine Guns, 139 Bomb Throwers and 32 Mine Throwers Captured.

Petrograd, (via London), June 15.—More than 150,000 men have been captured by the Russians during the offensive movement on the Volhynian and Galician fronts, it was officially announced today. The following statement was given out:

"Supplementary reports give the exact number of prisoners taken as one general, three commanders, 2,467 officers, five doctors and 150,000 men. We also have captured 163 cannon, 266 machine guns, 139 bomb throwers and 32 mine throwers.

"The offensive of General Brusiloff did not stop yesterday. In various regions on the front, fresh prisoner and more military booty were taken. The enemy continues to deliver counter attacks at several points, and elsewhere is busy entrenching himself in new positions.

"On the Dvina front and southwest of Lake Narocz, the enemy artillery at some points opened violent fire, followed by attempts of the Germans to debouch from their trenches. These were all repulsed.

"In the region of Baranovichi, a local action took place, in which we carried enemy trenches, but afterward, under German pressure, fell back to the point whence we started.

"In the Baltic, on the night of May 31-June 1 our torpedo boats attacked a convoy of enemy steamers sailing under escort. During the engagement with the escort we sunk two steamers of a small torpedo type and auxiliary cruiser whose crew we captured. There was no loss or damage to our side. We refrained from pursuing the enemy

RUSSIAN ADVANCE NOT YET CHECKED

Offensive Against the Austrians is Proceeding Without Any Signs of Slackening.

MORE PRISONERS CAPTURED

Austrians West of Lutsk Counter Attacking or Entrenching in New Positions—Little Activity on the Verdun Front.

After 11 days the great Russian offensive against the Austro-Hungarians and Germans from Volhynia to Bukowina shows no signs of slackening. All along the front, fresh gains and the capture of thousands of additional prisoners, guns, machine guns and war supplies are claimed by the Russians. Prisoners now exceed 150,000.

While semi-official advices from Petrograd give a report that the Austrians have evacuated Czernowitz, the latest Austrian official communication says their troops are making a stand north and east of the city, and at both points have repulsed Russian attacks.

In the drive westward from the region of Lutsk the Austrians are counter attacking or entrenching themselves in new positions for a stand against the Russians.

No reports of gains for either side in Galicia in the region of Tarnopol have come through. Here apparently there is still a deadlock.

On the German end of the northern front the Russians near Baranovichi captured German trenches, but later were forced to give them up. Infantry attacks by the Germans along the Dvina river and in the lake region south of Dvinsk were repulsed, according to Petrograd.

The French on the slopes south of LeMort Homme, northwest of Verdun, have attacked and captured a German trench. The Germans are still violently bombarding the sectors of Thiaumont and Fort Souville, northeast of Verdun, probably preparatory to another infantry attack.

Only artillery activity is in progress on the remainder of the front in

TIME NOT RIPE TO WITHDRAW TROOPS

Carranza to be Informed of His Inability to Handle the Situation in Mexico.

LANSING COMPLETES NOTE

Further Steps Taken to Protect Americans in Event of Mexican Outbreak—Navy Transports Held in Readiness.

Washington, June 15—Secretary Lansing's draft of the note which will refuse General Carranza's demand for withdrawal of American troops from Mexico was laid before President Wilson for his approval today almost simultaneously with receipt of news of another border raid in which the camp of the 14th cavalry at San Ignacio, Texas, was attacked and three troopers killed.

Punitive steps against the raiders were left to the discretion of the border commanders, whose standing orders are to pursue into Mexico any hot trail they find. The development, however, immediately was called to the attention of the de facto government through Special Agent Rodgers, in Mexico City, and will be one of the elements on which the administration, in its reply to Carranza, will predicate its declaration that the time for withdrawal is not yet ripe.

Anti - American demonstrations throughout the republic, which also will back up this declaration, have worked with the growing seriousness of economic conditions to produce such a situation that officials here fear a new internal upheaval soon and have taken further steps to protect Americans. An army transport is being held in readiness at Galveston to proceed to Mexican ports for refugees, another has been ordered to the vicinity of the Mexican west coast and the navy transport Hancock, now taking marines to Santo Domingo, will go from that port to Vera Cruz.

The reply to Carranza's note may be sent tomorrow. It is known that the note contains vigorously worded re-

THREE AMERICAN TROOPERS KILLED IN MEXICAN RAID

Small Detachment of Cavalry at San Ignacio, Texas, Attacked by a Hundred Bandits.

EIGHT OF THEM ARE KILLED

Major Gray, With Command of Cavalrymen, Sweeping Country in Search of "Hot Trail."

AMERICANS DRIVE MEXICAN EDITOR ACROSS THE BORDER

Laredo, Texas, June 15.—It was rumored here tonight that Mexican Consul Garcia, in Laredo, had gone over to the Mexican side for safety. Fully half the population of Nuevo Laredo, Mexico, opposite here, evacuated the town tonight and have gone south to LaJarita and Lampasas.

Thirty American residents of Laredo late today led Leo D. Walker, a Mexican and managing editor of El Progreso, a Mexican newspaper, published here, into Mexico at the point of a revolver and ordered him not to return. El Progreso has recently contained editorials abusing his government.

SanAntonio, Texas, June 15.—Luis De La Rosa today made good his threat to raid the border, when 100 of his men attacked a small detachment of the 14th United States cavalry at San Ignacio, 40 miles southeast of Laredo. His action cost him eight men killed, several wounded and many horses and some equipment. The American loss was three killed and six wounded.

Major Alonzo Gray late today was using every man of his little command in a sweeping search of the country about San Ignacio for a hot trail. If it is discovered a third punitive expedition may enter Mexico but at Department headquarters, General Funston and his staff has little hope that Major Gray will be able to get in touch with the band. There was evidence to show that a large party had re-entered Mexico, but other evidence indicated that some of them at least were scattered along the brush-covered country on the American side.

First Shot at 2 a. m.

The first shot fired by the attacking party was at the corporal of the guard at 2 a. m. A sentry had heard the voices of Mexicans beyond his post. He could see no one and called the corporal. While the sentry and corporal were talking the raiding party attacked.

For 30 minutes, according to a report made by Major Gray, a brisk engagement ensued. There were not more than 80 Americans in the camp and it is believed the Mexicans expected to find even a smaller number. It was the camp of troop M, but a part of that troop was on duty down the river. The remnant of that troop was rein-

WALTER M. VANDUESEN ADDRESSES BANKERS

Annual Report of Secretary Hunt Heard With Interest.

Committees Named—P. D. McGregory, of New York, Discusses Bank Advertising and Urges Patronage of Newspapers.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Asheville, N. C., June 15.—The most interesting feature of today's session of the North Carolina Bankers' Association was an address by Walter M. Vanduesen, of Newark, N. J. Mr. Vanduesen went into the banking business in detail and on completing his address was given a rising vote of thanks by those attending the session. Speaking on "Some Present Day Banking Problems," he said:

"The subject which is of chiefest interest to the bankers of the country at the present time is undoubtedly the par-collection of checks by the Federal Reserve banks. The State banks are almost as vitally interested as are the National banks because the system, if successful, will eventually bring about the parring of checks on State banks. * * * As far sighted bankers you are of necessity seeking means by which this loss of revenue can be replaced."

The report of Secretary Treasurer W. A. Hunt was heard with interest. The report showed that 407 banks in North Carolina were members of the association, but 114 North Carolina banks were not represented, and among these were a number not eligible to mem-

RAILROAD MEN OF THE COUNTRY TO TAKE STRIKE VOTE

To Determine Advisability of General Strike to Enforce Demands Upon Employers.

WILL VOTE WITHIN A MONTH

Suggestion of Railroads to Submit Question to Federal Tribunal is Rejected.

New York, June 15.—More than 400,000 union and non-union railroad workers of America will vote within a month on the advisability of calling a general strike to enforce their demands for an eight-hour day and time and a half for overtime as a result of the failure by representatives of the railroads and the men to reach a settlement here today, after a two weeks' conference.

Hope of adjusting the dispute through the conference faded when the railroads submitted a tentative compromise offer to the men, granting their demands but eliminating the majority of existing "double compensation" rules. The conference adjourned yesterday to give the railroad managers an opportunity to discuss further their stand on this point, but when they met the men today they not only refused to make a specific offer covering the compensation rules, but advised that their differences be submitted either to the Interstate Commerce Commission or to a board of arbitration to operate under the provisions of the Newlands act. The men declined both offers and the decision to take a strike vote followed.

Take Vote at Once.

The leaders and the 500 delegates of the four brotherhoods of trainmen, engineers, firemen and conductors, who attended the conference decided on the necessity for the strike vote at a secret meeting following the break.

A. B. Garretson, president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Conductors, announced later that the ballot will be drafted tonight and distributed to all railroad men, whether members of the Brotherhoods or not, before the close of next week. The canvas will consume at least three weeks, the leaders agreed, and before August 1 the result will be known. If the men vote for a general strike the leaders will return here an dagain present the demands of the men to the railroads in an effort either to gain their demands in full or a compromise offer without the necessity of putting the strike actually into effect.

Would Limit Earning Power.

Elimination of the "double compensation rules," the railroad men contend, would not only impair but limit, their earning power. It would wipe out wage increases that the men have fought and gained during the last 25 years from individual railroads and systems, they assert. The monthly remuneration of certain engineers would be reduced by $75, they claim, while certain firemen would suffer cuts averaging $30 to $40 per month.

Under the present rules, the men state, an engineer or brakeman, for example, now receives pay for two full

COL. J. P. KERR DIED IN ASHEVILLE YESTERDAY

Was Executive Secretary in Office of Governor Craig.

Was 62 Years of Age, and Had Been Ill Since Last February—Is Survived by a Son, Five Sisters, Two Brothers.

Asheville, N. C., June 15. — Col. J. P. Kerr, of this city, secretary to Governor Craig, died at the home of his sister here this afternoon, his death being attributed to heart failure. He was 62 years of age. Colonel Kerr, who was stricken at Raleigh a few weeks ago, had returned to Raleigh, and found that his health would not permit his remaining at work. He returned to Asheville about three weeks ago, and has been in poor health since. The end came suddenly at 3:07 o'clock this afternoon.

Colonel Kerr was born in Asheville, and was the son of the late Rev. William M. Kerr, a Holston Conference Methodist preacher. He was married to Miss Elizabeth Love Hopkins, of Harrisonburg, Va., who died in 1884. Surviving Colonel Kerr are one son, John M. Kerr; five sisters, and two brothers. Colonel Kerr's son has been for some time in Canada, in the employ of an ammunition plant, and the funeral, for this reason, will not be held until Sunday, giving the son time to return. Governor Craig was notified by wire by insistent clamor from nearby delegations.

The band, its repertoire taxed, finally turned to "On the Banks of the Wabash," and "Turkey in the Straw."

Demonstration Lasts 45 Minutes.

At 11:30 all but a few delegates had taken their seats and at 11:33 Chairman James sounded the first gavel rap The demonstration had lasted 45 minutes.

The roll call of states was resumed and Arizona yielded to Ohio. Former Governor Harmon made the first seconding speech.

"I come on behalf of the Ohio delegation," he said, "representing the unanimous wish of the Ohio Democracy to second the nomination of Woodrow Wilson for President of the United States."

The second seconding speech was made by Governor Stuart, of Virginia, to whom the Arkansas delegation yielded.

Referring to Virginia as "the mother of presidents" Governor Stuart referred to the President as "her illustrious son."

After Governor Stuart concluded, th delegates wanted to wait no longer and cried "Vote, vote."

Delegates Roared "Aye."

On motion of Senator Hughes, the rules were suspended and no ballots whatever were taken. The delegates simply roared "aye" when the names of Wilson and Marshall were called and Chairman James declared the nomination by acclamation.

Senator Kern, nominating Vice President Marshall, discarded a long prepared speech and simply said:

"I re-nominate Thomas Riley Marshall."

The nomination of both candidates was completed four minutes before midnight.

Robert Emmett Burke, of Illinois, a delegate who announced he would not vote for the President, raised the only voice in opposition. He was elected as an independent.

Many delegates and spectators made a rush for the exits when the vice presidential nomination was made and Senator James with great difficulty restored order.

Resolutions were then adopted appointing Chairman James and Former Governor Glynn, of New York, chairman of committees, despectively, to notify the President and Vice President of their nomination.

Senators Hughes, Taggart and Vardaman were appointed to confer with the platform committee which still was in session to learn if it was ready to report.

Practically all of the delegates remained but the galleries emptied quickly.

Senator Lewis then was called to fill in the wait with a speech.

Senator Lewis, however, cut it short and merely thanked the crowd for its applause. The crowd wanted somebody to talk and were cries for "Tom Heflin" and "Irvin Cobb." Heflin took the platform.

While Heflin was talking the conferees returned from the Resolutions committee and reported that the platform would not be ready for two or three hours more. Senator Hughes recommended an adjournment.

Heflin amused the crowd with a story.

"An old negro in Washington the other day," said he, "asked: 'Who did the Republicans nominate?'

"'Mr. Hughes', he was told.

"'Yes se'r', said the negro.

"'Who does you suppose the white folks will nominate'?"

The Southern delegates led the roars of laughter.

The convention adjourned at 12:31 until 11 A. M. Friday.

When Heflin finished, Senator Hughes reported that the platform was not ready to report. The sub-committee was agreed, he said, but the entire committee was not assembled. Motions to recess were recalled out from the floor. It finally was agreed to meet again at 11 A. M.

Americanism Plank Unchanged.

It was announced in the convention that the sub-committee drafting the platform had finished its work but that the entire resolutions committee was not assembled to pass upon it. President Wilson's own plank charging conspiracy among some foreign born citizens for the benefit of foreign powers and denouncing any political party which benefits and not repudiating such a situation was incorporated in the platform, just as the President had sent it from Washington. It was understood that the President insisted that he plank should be put in the platform in the way he had drawn it.

There never was any doubt of President Wilson's nomination tonight, but there was a possibility that some vice presidential booms might be brought out in opposition to Vice President Marshall. They melted away, however, when the convention got in session and as soon as President Wilson's nomination had been made a roaring chorus of acclamation, Senator Kern, who renominated Mr. Marshall, cast aside a long prepared speech and simply declared:

"I nominate Thomas Riley Marshall, of Indiana, for vice president."

To President Wilson's nomination there was only one dissenting vote, Robert Emmett Burke, of Illinois, who came to the committee announcing that he was opposed to the President. His vote technically made the President's nomination 1,091 to 1.

PLATFORM PLANK PROVES DISAPPOINTING TO WOMEN

St. Louis, June 15.—Leaders of the Woman Suffrage Movement who have spent the last four days in St. Louis in behalf in behalf of a platform declaration for federal action to secure the ballot for women were disappointed tonight when they learned that the resolution sub-committee had agreed upon a suffrage plank recommending that the question be at once submitted to the people of the various states by their legislatures.

Suffrage leaders announced their intention of taking the fight back to Washington and resuming their efforts to have Congress act on the Susan B Anthony amendment to the constitution.

Failure of the convention to declare that suffrage is a matter for Federal action, they said, would result in personal appeals to President Wilson to urge action by Congress to act and upon Charles Evans Hughes, the Republican candidate, for a statement of his views on the question.

A leader of the newly organized "Womans party," said tonight that if results are not obtained at the White House or from Congress the party would immediately begin a campaign against Democratic members of the Senate and House and will hold them personally responsible for the party's failure to meet their demands.

MR. WILSON NOTIFIED OF NOMINATION AFTER RETIRING.

Washington, June 15—President Wilson was notified at 1 o'clock tonight by Secretary Tumulty that he and Vice President Marshall had been nominated by acclamation at the St. Louis convention. His only comment was "I am very grateful to my generous friends."

Mr. Wilson had gone to bed a few minutes, after spending the evening with his wife and a party of officials receiving returns from the convention and waiting for the nomination.

He retired, however, only after a telephone message had come giving satisfactory assurances that reported opposition to the emphatic terms of his American plank would not be serious and that the declaration condemning the political activities of citizens of foreign lineage would go into the Democratic platform exactly as he had drafted it.

Aroused early in the night by word from St. Louis that some party leaders wanted to make the declaration less caustic and recast it into a mere general stigmatization of such activities, the President notified his personal representatives at the convention that he would consent to no emasculation of the plank.

So determined was the President upon the point ,that it was saaid he was prepared to go to St. Louis and carry his plea in person to the floor of the convention should persistent opposition develop. It was apparent, however, that he did not anticipate such a step would be necessary and the reports that came later bore out his belief that most of the leaders had favored acceptance of the plank since it was telegraphed to St. Louis yesterday.

M'CORMICK AND GLASS TO RUN WILSON'S CAMPAIGN

Washington, June 15.—President Wilson arranged to receive news of his re-nomination tonight in company with several relatives and friends at the White House. Special wire facilities kept the President in close touch with every development at the St. Louis convention.

Prior to tonight's session of the convention, the President was in communication with administration leaders at St. Louis on details of the platform, and on organization plans for the Democratic National Committee. His decision to have Vance C. McCormick, of Pennsylvania, manage the campaign as chairman of the committee and to have Representative Carter Glass, of Virginia, to serve as secretary, was reached only after prolonged consideration, and after consultation with Democratic leaders here and in St. Louis.

Mr. Glass already is thoroughly in touch with the President's plans and ideas on the political situation, and Mr. McCormick is expected to confer with Mr. Wilson within the next few days.

OPPOSES MODIFICATION OF THE PLANK ON AMERICANISM

Washington, June 15 — Reports reaching the White House tonight that some Democratic leaders in St. Louis favored making the President's Americanism plank less specific in its denunciation of the activities of foreign born citizens led to the declaration by administration officials that Mr. Wilson would not consent to such a modification. It was said that the President was so strongly determined to make a platform declaration on the point which would raise a clear-cut issue that if persistent opposition developed he might ask the convention to remain in session until he could go to St. Louis and make a personal appeal to the delegates.

BRYAN DECLARES A UNITED PARTY READY TO ENTER BATTLE

nation and not only give a reason for the faith that is in them, but give a defense of the administration's claims to the confidence of the people.

"You may take all the administrations from the beginning of our history as a republic to the beginning of the present one, and you will not find as many laws written upon the statute books of great importance to the people, as you will find written in the last three years by Woodrow Wilson, a Democratic President."

Mr. Bryan then referred to the tariff revision, the Federal Reserve law and the strengthening of the anti-trust laws.

"No President since Jackson," said Mr. Bryan, "has had to meet such an unholy combination of powers of high finance, and even Jackson himself never met the situation better than Woodrow Wilson met it. We have just commenced to learn what the Federal Reserve law means for this nation.

Wall Street's Grip Broken.

"This great piece of legislation, the greatest piece of constructive statesmanship in a generation, has not only broken the hold of Wall Street upon the business of the nation, but it has broken the grip of Wall Street upon the politics of the United States.

"For 20 years there has not been an election but what a hundred men in Wall Street could, by coercion they had in their power, change the result of the election. Any one who, like myself, has felt their power, must be pardoned if he rejoices that we have an administration that has broken that power and set a nation free.

"Here we have three great measures, carrying out the promise of a Democratic platform and these three great measures constitute a record of achievement which the Republican party dare not attack.

"The electorate before which this Republican party must now go is not controlled as the convention at Chicago was by the expert representatives of the favor-seeking corporations.

Republicans Dare Not Challenge.

"While our President and our Congress were at work constructing this splendid pyramid of performance, a war came that threw upon this administration such burdens as no president has had to bear within the last 50 years. We inherited from a Republican administration an insurrection in Mexico. This administration has dealt with that situation and the Republican party dare not challenge a verdict before the country on the Mexican question.

"We have a few men interested in ranches, and a few interested in mines, who would use the blood of American soldiers to guarantee profits and their investments in a foreign land. But that is not the sentiment of the American people. The people of this country stand back of Woodrow Wilson in his determination not to intervene in the affairs of Mexico.

Meaning of Intervention.

"Why, my friends, if President Wilson yielded to the demand of those who have clamored for intervention in Mexico, we would no sooner have crossed the line than the same men would tell him that the soldiers must never come out, for, my friends, annexation is the next step after intervention has been undertaken. And if we invaded Mexico these same men would say 'On to Panama.'

"But, my friends, the President not only has had to deal with war to the south of us, but with war to the east of us. My friends, I have differed from our President on some of the methods employed in this war, but I am one of those who desire sincerely that this nation shall not become a participant in the dreadful conflict."

Record Upon Which to Appeal.

"We have a record upon which we can appeal to the people for their support, without fear and without blushing. I believe the American people, grateful for what this administration has done, grateful that we have peace in this country while war stalks throughout the world, will not be unmindful of the fact that it was a Democratic President, supported by a Democratic Senate and House, who has thus saved the country from the horrors of that war.

"My friends, I believe that there is now before this country an opportunity such as no other country has ever had since the beginning of time. I believe that God, in His providence, has reserved for the United States the honor, and the task, of lifting the moral code that governs individuals up to the level of nations, and making it a part of the code of all nations.

"If the nations now at war had spent one-tenth as much trying to cultivate friendship as they have spent in trying to cultivate hatred, there would be no war in Europe today.

Opportunity to Bring Peace.

"If I understood this nation's opportunity and this nation's task, it is to lead the world away from its false philosophy and help it to build its hope of peace on the enduring foundation of love and brotherhood and co-operation.

"And, my friends, if this is to be the task of this nation, what party is fit to perform the task than the party that preaches the brotherhood of man as next in importance to the fatherhood of God?

"I, as a lover of my country, want my country to win this greatest of all prizes. As a Democrat, I want my party to have the honor that shall come with the accomplishment and fulfillment of such a task, and I stand with the Democrats of the nation to give to Woodrow Wilson an opportunity to be that man."

A MOTHER OF TEN CHILDREN GIVES PRAISE TO TANLAC

Red Cross Street Woman Fell off in Flesh, Suffered Terrible Pains and Was Told Nothing Would Relieve Her Before She Took Master Medicine.

Mrs. B. A. Sarvis, residing at 119 Red Cross street, this city, who is the mother of ten children, is another Wilmington woman to enthusiastically endorse Tanlac.

"Before taking Tanlac, I suffered terribly from intense pains in my back and around my heart and down my left side," Mrs. Sarvis explained to the Tanlac Man. "I could not sleep well, and was so nervous that I couldn't stand still a minute. Frequently, I had to take purgatives. I fell off in flesh fast.

"I also suffered pains peculiar to women and from bowel derangements. I was depressed in spirits because doctors told me there was little chance for relief in my case.

"Then, because Tanlac had done so much good for my friends, I took to it. Notwithstanding the fact that I am young on the Tanlac treatment, I have gained wonderful results from its use. I do not have any more pains in my back, across my kidneys, around my heart or on my left side; can eat anything, and I have an appetite larger than ever before. I can do my work with ease since gaining in weight and all in all I feel better than I have for months.

"Suffering women should know about Tanlac and because I feel sure it will help them as it has me, I publicly recommend it."

steamers because during the engagement they took their course into Swedish territorial waters."

The Russian statement of yesterday announced the capture of 1,780 officers, nearly 120,000 men, 120 cannon and 260 machine guns. It is probable that the difference between those figures and the ones given in today's statement does not represent the captures made in the interval between the issuance of the two statements, but rather that the increases are due to the receipt of more detailed information from the front.

The Baltic engagement referred to evidently is the one which took place on Tuesday night, southeast of Stockholm. A statement given out in Berlin on Wednesday said the German auxiliary cruiser was attacked by four Russian destroyers and was blown up by her crew, most of her men being saved. The date of this engagement is fixed in the official Russian statement by the Russian calendar.

France and Belgium. The Canadians still hold the positions recaptured from the Germans in the vicinity of Zillebeke where there is intermittent shelling by both sides.

On the Austro-Italian line in Tyrol only artillery bombardments and small infantry engagements have been reported. To the east of Monfalcone, a short distance from the head of the Gulf of Trieste, the Italians have captured Austrian positions and taken prisoner 498 officers and men.

Near Felahie, on the Tigris river, the Turks have repulsed a British advance, according to Constantinople. The annihilation of 400 British troops on the Euphrates sector also is reported by the Turkish war office. Persian volunteers are declared to be attacking the Russians near the Persian border, inflicting heavy losses.

MAYOR MOORE MAKES ADDRESS

Speaks at State Meeting of Colored Organization — Interesting Programme Carried Out.

Mayor P. Q. Moore was the principal speaker at the meeting last night of the Grand Lodge of Tents of the Independent Order of J. R. G. and J. U., a well known State organization of colored women, which is in session in this city. Mayor Moore explained that his failure to be present at the session on Wednesday night was due to a misunderstanding on his part as to when he was to deliver the address of welcome on behalf of the city.

"So I am here," the Mayor explained, "not to deliver words of welcome, but to say some things to encourage you. I suppose I am the proudest person in the house. I am proud because a woman of Wilmington is at the head of this order. I am proud of her because I helped to raise her, and she helped to raise me; in fact, we helped to raise each other."

Mayor Moore paid a tribute to the brother of the superintendent of the order, explaining how he came to Wilmington a poor country boy, and lived an honest life, having been a most useful citizen.

Mayor spoke of his great pleasure in being able to attend the meeting congratulated those present on the splendid work they are doing. He bade them God speed in their work. At the close of the address, the choir sang "How Lovely is Zion," for the Mayor.

The exercises last night were opened with the invocation by Rev. A. H. Martin, of Vineland, followed by Mayor Moore's address. Sarah Senior, of Wilmington read a paper on woman's rights; A. E. Jones gave a recitation; Grace Parris, of Wilmington, sang a solo, which was followed by an address by Fannie Badham, of Edenton. "Prophecy for the Order" was the subject of a paper by Lulu Evans, of Wilmington.

The Grand Lodge of Tents of the Independent Order of the J. R. Gidding and Jollifre Union opened its third day's session yesterday in the Shiloh colored Baptist church yesterday morning at 10 o'clock. It was called to order by Grand Superintendent Victoria Lofton, and the morning meeting was devoted to hearing reports, after which the grand superintendent addressed the body on the vital points of interest to the members. Her remarks brought applause.

This body of organized colored women is the first in the state that caught the spirit of true patriotism in home, county and state. Its president, Victoria Lofton, sounded the keynote as being that the state needs money and the schools must be supported. It was organized in 1906 with 84 members, and today has a membership of 5,000. The amount of money reported at this session is $2,234.23, with more reports to be received.

The event of the afternoon session yesterday was the admission of the Juvenile department. The programme rendered by them was excellent and interesting.

SEMINOLO RECEIVES CALL

Coast Guard Cutter Called to Assistance of British Steamer in Distress on Charleston Bar.

The United States Coast Guard Cutter Seminole was busy last night getting coal into her bunkers and gathering up the men of the crew on shore liberty, preparatory to steaming before daylight this morning to the assistance of the British steamer Curaca, 4,067 tons, Capt. Ward, from Colon, Panama, June 7th, for Norfolk and New York, reported ashore early last night on Charleston bar.

However, shortly before 11 o'clock, just when the cutter was ready to get under way, Capt. Uberroth received a further telegram from Beaufort, N. C., stating that the Curaca had been floated and the assistance of the cutter would not be needed.

Captain P. H. Uberroth, commanding the Seminole, received advices shortly before 8 o'clock that the Curaca was ashore on the Charleston bar and stating that she would have to be lightered, asking for assistance as early as possible. No further particulars were given. He prepared to leave port at once, as the Seminole is the only cutter now in the service between Norfolk and Key West, the Yamacraw, stationed at Savannah, being North for her annual overhauling, but the later telegram came, relieving the ship of the necessity of putting to sea.

The Curaca has a cargo, perhaps from a South American port, and is listed in the New York Maritime Register as having sailed from Antofagasta May 16th for Norfolk and New York, being last reported as having sailed from Colon, Panama, on June 7th.

WORK OF THE TRAVELERS' AID AT UNION STATION

More Than Two Hundred People Were Helped During Month of May.

The supporters of the Travelers' Aid work at the Union station in Wilmington as well as others will learn with much interest that another very young girl was prevented from suffering an untimely fate last month through the instrumentality of those in charge of this beneficent work. In addition to this particular case, help was rendered in numerous cases to people of various ages and conditions.

A poor woman, who was bringing he baby to be treated by a physician of this city, was materially aided. A little crippled boy from Charlotte was assisted in getting to the hospital. A blind man was helped to board the train. Two children who were sent in care of the Travelers' Aid were transferred to the train to New Bern. A woman with a very sick child was enabled to secure the proper medicine. Two lame girls were helped to get to their homes.

A young girl was cared for at the home of the Travelers' Aid until relatives could be located. These relatives greatly appreciated the protection rendered as they did not arrive until the next day to meet the girl.

These are only a few of the instances of the kindnesses shown by the workers at the station. More than 200 people were assisted or directed during the past month. More than 100 of this number were women, 90 of them being girls and 20 of them children. More than a dozen sick people were helped. Lost articles were found for travelers, tickets bought, baggage checked telegrams sent for those who needed such attention.

Both workers are very efficient and much interested in their work. A baby crib is much needed at the station and it is hoped that someone will do a kindly deed by providing one.

BUSY DAY FOR HUGHES

Pledges, Promises and Predictions Continue to Pour In.

New York, June 15.—Pledges, promises and predictions continued to pour into the ears of Charles E. Hughes today from Republican leaders and the rank and file of the party. He had virtually no time for conferences, but spent nearly the entire day welcoming visitors.

Mr. Hughes reiterated today his decision not to comment on political issues until his notification of nomination which probably will be subsequent to July. Half a dozen invitations to make Fourth of July addresses are under consideration.

Man may give himself credit for being important, but his wife requires the cash before she can take stock in him in accordance with his own ideas of himself.

Says the Philadelphia Telegram: "It is a whole lot easier to tell the truth in the beginning." Well, yes, for a fellow won't have to live in fear of being faced with the truth in the end.

Those who read the very full synopsis of ex-Governor Glynn's keynote speech in yesterday's Star could appreciate the demonstration it brought forth in the Democratic National convention at St. Louis.

Republican candidates always have their headquarters in New York City. None of them have ever been known to establish headquarters in Poor Man's Gulch. If the Nabobs were to settle in the gulch, that is where campaign headquarters would be.

President Wilson may get at the head of a Flag Day procession and parade his Americanism all he wants to, but people can best judge his Americanism by those who propose to vote against him on account of it. Some voters are lining up with the opposition because they believe it has the least Americanism. They are surely good judges.

Another rich treat is in store for those who read the speech of Senator Ollie James, as permanent chairman, before the Democratic National convention yesterday. A splendid synopsis of it will be found in The Star this morning. It is somewhat different from that of Governor Glynn, but just about as good. Those who read it will be glad they did.

A clerk stole all the capital stock of the national bank at Stoneham, Mass., but we guess it was a small amount, else the President and cashier would have been handling the cash themselves. Perhaps the bank was in a class with the size of Mark Twain's country fair. The fair had to be called off because a calf broke out the night before and ate all the exhibits.

Senator James yesterday spoke a profound truth that ought to be burned into the heart and conscience of every patriotic and unpatriotic American when he declared that to discredit President Wilson might palsy the hand that could write the peace treaty of the world. He might have said the only hand that the world looks to to write its peace treaty. Yet how many Americans would like to palsy that hand?

Do the things that are doable. If you know of any abundant raw material around Wilmington, start a factory to utilize it. Raw material is plain evidence of an opportunity for manufacturing. Can't we find out what is doable in Wilmington? Practical investigation and initiative count for more than hot air and energy directed without a definite object in view. Pick out something and give earnest attention to that something.

IMPOSSIBLE ISSUES.

The Republican platform adopted at Chicago makes President Wilson's foreign and Mexican policies issues in the campaign, but the intelligent man will at once recognize that they are impossible issues, for the G. O. P. convention failed to set up any other policy that it would have followed to the contrary. Without knowing whether the Republicans would do better or a great deal worse, we cannot judge the Wilson administration by even imagining what a Republican administration would or could do. In fact, the Republicans could not tell us what they would do but they lugged in the issue for what they could make out of it. The New York Journal of Commerce takes this correct and philosophical view of such nonsensical planks:

"The practice of throwing out drafts of platform planks in advance seems to be designed to give delegates at conventions something to cling to in order to hold together in time of peril. Among those put forth for the St. Louis convention, which opens today, is one relating to the situation in Mexico, understood to have the approval of President Wilson. It affords an opportunity for comparison, and the question seems to be raised whether the trouble in Mexico as well as the war in Europe, can be made a party issue. The plank relating to the matter in the Republican platform is chiefly an attack upon the course pursued by the present administration, without any suggestion as to what its opponents would have done or would do now, if responsible for government action. It expresses sympathy for the suffering people of Mexico and horror and indignation at what Americans have suffered. It denounces 'indefensible methods of interference' and expresses shame for 'failure to discharge the duty of this country as next friend to Mexico,' and for 'permitting the continuance of such conditions.' Having relieved itself to that extent, the convention of 987 delegates very briefly pledged 'our aid in restroing order and maintaining peace' and promised 'adequate and absolute protection in their lives, liberty and property' to 'our citizens on and near our border and to those in Mexico, wherever they may be found.' How that would be accomplished and with what probable consequences we are not informed."

Of course, how would the Republicans know the probable consequences of any policy they would have tried. The very first trial they made might have resulted in war and the loss of many more lives than have already been sacrificed. Even Mr. Hughes criticised Mr. Wilson's Mexican policy, but he has not taken the pains to outline to us any one that he would have had himself. Who can even say what results would follow a policy till it has been tried? We must not be left to imagine a policy and then believe its results would have been equal to our pipe dream.

JUDGES AND THEIR RIGHTS AS CITIZENS.

After we hear a great deal about the sanctity of the Supreme Court and the great wrong in pouncing upon that supposedly venerable institution for a presidential candidate, we will about all settle down to the final conclusion that the country may as well for its good men. In our minds we are draw on the courts for good men as for the courts to draw on the country trying to make the Supreme Court what it isn't. It is a democratic institution and all its dignity and integrity depend upon the men on the bench. Going on the bench won't make an unfit man worthy of the ermine, but going on the bench is liable to spoil a man with democratic ideas and make him feel as if he is more exalted than the President of the United States.

We had better be wasting some of our ideas on the venerability and solemnity and sanctification of the presidential chair, any occupant of which can be denounced and villified and misrepresented by the dirtiest and most arrogant demagogue in the country. Indeed, a president is not above the gossips, slanders and claptrap of the crowd on the streets. Many a voluble critic of the president could not run a board of county commissioners, but it is all right since we have liberty of speech in this country. Every fellow is entitled to talk and look as if he is satisfied he has said something that would be cut out and pasted in the scrap book of Solomon if he were here in the possession of all his splendid faculties. Indeed, the judges are just as liable to be villified and besmirched, but what is said about them does not amount to much unless they know it is so or have reason to believe it themselves.

We are really inclined to believe that the country will finally become reconciled to invading the courts to flirt with the ambitions of the men who sit upon the bench and therefore are known as judges. As a general thing their wives think more about it than they do themselves. A man who can be coaxed to come down off the bench ought to get off it just as soon as he can, for it might be the best thing he could do for both himself and the bench. Of course, people hate to believe that the justices and the judges can be lured, seduced and commandeered, but really the main thing is that they are citizens with all the privileges of every other free man. We can't take away a man's liberty by making him a judge, and the truth is he can resign and run for constable, magistrate or president, just as any other man who imagines that he is for Americanism as well as for the best office he can get.

It is no use for us to make a mountain out of a molehill, so we might as well let it all go as to this thing of dragging the courts into politics. Many a fat old politician who has landed on the bench or has been shelved on it by other politicians will laugh at the idea. It makes a pretty good mourners' bench for some of them, but others do not care to remain on the bench and acquire too much judicial temperament and solemnity.

All of us rob the bench when we get a chance. When the great Democracy—the biggest and best thing in America—wanted a presidential candidate, it requisitioned Judge Alton B. Parker, who was chief justice of New York, the next in statehood to the United States. The party needed just such an eminent man as Judge Parker, and he listened to his country's call, resigned and accepted the nomination for president. He was defeated but it was a sorry day for the Republic, which often behaves itself like a township.

Don't waste any time worrying about the G. O. P.'s robbing the Supreme Court. There wasn't any law against it. Moreover, this country can never compel a man to sit on the bench when he prefers to get off and be backed up by such an aggregation as the G. O. P. which Teddy stignatized in 1912 as a party which had betrayed its trust to the people. Judges ought to be careful how they accept nominations from a party that could not even prove an alibi, but inasmuch as a judge considers it more honorable to be a Republican candidate than to be a Supreme Court Justice, he has to share whatever fate ought to be meted out to the party. Judge Hughes might make a first rate president, but he could not be expected to do a thing for the people, backed by a party representing privilege and depending on privilege for its campaign fund.

There is now law on the subject. The true sentiment felt towards invading the courts for candidates was thus exressed a few days ago by Senator Stone:

"In that view of things, it will follow that the decisions of judges of that great tribunal will become more or less the subject of suspicion. People will begin to surmise whether decisions on questions of wide or general interest have behind them some sinister political design. The tendency will be to undermine public confidence in that great court—a thing that would be full of evil consequences if not disastrous."

LEGISLATION FOR FARMERS

The Hollis-Moss Rural Credits bill is expected back from the conferees on next Monday, and without further discussion it will be passed by both the House and the Senate. This is but one of the measures passed by Congress in the interest of the farmers. Recently, while advocating this bill, Representative Whaley, of South Carolina, truly declared that during the past three years more important legislation in the interest of agriculture has been enacted than during the whole fifty years of Republican legislation. The Chesterfield (S. C.) Advertiser pronounces Mr. Whaley's speech an exceedingly able one, and it referred to this remark of the Charleston statesman:

"Referring to the Hon. Asbury F. Lever's cotton future bill he said when the act went into effect it resulted in the raising of the price of cotton nearly $2 a bale, but recently a New York Judge declared the act unconstitutional upon technical grounds. The agricultural futures bill this year re-enacts the cotton futures bill so as to meet the objection of this decision. The chairman of the federal reserve board, the Hon. W. G. P. Harding, the only Southern member of the board, declares that the act was one of the means of saving the cotton situation during the critical period of the past two years.

"You can always depend upon good old South Carolina's statesmen to bring us through dangers, seen and unseen."

The whole country ought to feel grateful to the Democratic Congress and we will soon see whether it will vote that way or not. It strikes us that a party which has enacted so much constructive legislation would sweep the country in November.

The Hollis-Moss Rural Credits bill officially known as the Federal Farm Loan act, provides for the farmers of the country long-term amortized loans at a low interest rate.

The bill, when finally approved this month, will be the second of the great economic legislative acts dealing indirectly with the financial system of the country which the Wilson administration has given the nation. The first is the Federal Reserve act. The Rural Credits act, aimed to help the farmer finance the purchase of his own farm and then to operate it, is patterned somewhat after the Federal reserve system.

Representative Glass, in a statement to The Sun correspondent, explains the system as follows:

"Government control of the system is secured through a Federal farm loan board consisting of the Secretary of the Treasury and four members appointed by the President at an annual salary of $10,000 each.

"Twelve Federal land banks are established in the continental United States to do the actual banking business. These banks make loans to farmers for productive purposes only through national farm loan associations.

"Members of farm loan associations must be borrowers, and they must take stock in the associations to the amount of 5 per cent. of their loans. This 5 per cent becomes the guaranty fund of the system, and is passed along to the land bank to increase its capital stock. Individual double liability is also incurred by borrowers so as to secure their financial interest in the conduct of the association and in preventing bad loans.

"Each land bank may issue farm loan bonds, based on its farm mortgages as collateral. The proceeds of these bonds furnish funds for further loans to borrowing farmers. These bonds cannot bear interest to exceed 5 per cent. and interest to farmers cannot exceed 1 per cent. more than the rate carried by the last issue of bonds. The 1 per cent margin pays all expenses and dividends. All earnings go to the borrowers, and when a loan is paid in full the stock issued when the loan was made is fully paid off in cash

"It is expected that loans will be made to farmers at 5 per cent. or lower. The bonds will be an excellent investment at 4 per cent., being exempt from taxes and a legal purchase for fiduciary funds. Provision is also made for private joint stock banks under government supervision, which may lend to farmers without requiring any investment in the stock of the bank or any assumption of individual liability. These banks will occupy the same position in the mortgage field that national banking associations occupy in the commercial field.

"The 12 Federal land banks will be co-operative, and will correspond to the familiar building and loan associations in cities. They will each have $750,000 capital."

These banks will doubtless be located in bond-buying cities. The main purpose of the institutions is to place the land bonds on the market.

OUR COMMERCE $46,736,713.

The Department of Commerce recently issued a comprehensive bulletin concerning the South Atlantic ports. The port statistics cover the calendar year 1913, and the report states that the commerce of the port of Wilmington for that year amounted to 773,610 short tons, valued at $46,736,713. Of the total traffic, the movement within the harbor and on the Cape Fear river above and below Wilmington amounted to 211,414 short tons, valued at $4,353,278. The remaining commerce, 562,196 short tons, valued at $42,383,435, consisted largely of foreign commerce, though there was considerable coastwise commerce.

It is well to remember that Wilmington's river commerce alone was $4,353,278, in view of the fact that certain demagogues in Congress have been fighting the country's waterways projects as "pork barrel" jobs. We doubt whether the government gets paid so well for its expenditures in any particular as it does for the appropriations to build up the country's commerce. Now that the canalization of the Cape Fear above Wilmington will be completed by early fall, it is expected that the river commerce will be doubled within the next year.

We ought to join Fayetteville in celebrating the completion of the Cape Fear locks and dams, and at least one day of such celebration should be featured in Wilmington. The event is going to get a great deal of publicity for both the ocean gateway and the potential Cape Fear and her three navigable tributaries, on each of which there is a growing commerce.

The coming year is a good time for us to organize a more systematic movement to increase the foreign and domestic commerce of Wilmington. If it is to grow we will have to make it do so, for nobody else will do it for us. The port can be made a powerful means of building up Wilmington and it is too great an asset to be treated in a passive way, or pretty much as a matter of course.

CURRENT COMMENT

"President Wilson could do a gracious act and perform a high service to his country by appointing Mr. William Howard Taft to fill that vacancy (in the United States Supreme Court caused by the resignation of Justice Hughes). It may be said that as the eight remaining Justices are evenly divided as to political affiliations, with four Republicans and four Democrats, the President will feel impelled to appoint a Democrat and thus give his party a majority on the bench."—The Times. The eight remaining Justices are not divided evenly as to politics. They stand five Republicans to three Democrats—Justices Holmes, Day, McKenna, Van Devanter and Pitney, Republicans, and Chief Justice White and Justices McReynolds and Brandeis, Democrats. The appointment of Mr. Taft or any other Republican to the Hughes vacancy would maintain the old Republican ascendancy in the court, and this would have to be interpreted as a special reward from a Democratic President to the Republican party for raiding the United States Supreme Court against all precedent to get a candidate in its own partisan interests.—New York World.

None of the Republicans was more emphatic in his praise of the choice of the Republican convention than W. H. Taft. No wonder. The convention that honored Hughes gave "Theodore" the jolt of his life and "my dear Will" evened the score. An interesting story has come out of Chicago in this connection. It is that as far back as two years ago Henry and Charles Taft began to lay their plans to get even with the man who humiliated their brother. For two years it is said they have been conferring with Frank H. Hitchcock on the best means of making Mr. Roosevelt rue the day when he turned on his former friend. The Tafts picked a shrewd politician when they selected Hitchcock. He threw all his ability and experience into the job which the Tafts cut out for him. According to the reports which came from the Illinois city he hardly slept or ate while the nomination of the Republican party was in doubt. He was matching wits with the master politician, Roosevelt. The Taft brothers and Hitchcock are as happy over the Hughes nomination as the justice is himself, but for a different reason.—Raleigh News and Observer.

Strength to the arm of the Seaboard Air Line Railway as it begins an aggressive effort to build up the section through which it runs and to enhance the prosperity of North Carolina. With the reorganization of its development department there has come a new vision and a new determination to make the most of the possibilities which are here. Illustration of the enlightened manner in which Mr. B. L. Hamner, general developmental agent, is going about this work, is found in the fact that in the Manufacturers' Record of June 22 there will appear a full page advertisement setting forth the advantages which Charlotte offers for knitting mills. It will bear the signature of "The Seaboard Air Line Railway, the Progressive Railway of the South." The advertisement, a clear-cut and effective production, is based on a news story on that subject appearing in The Observer of May 30. Inquiries will be referred to the Charlotte Chamber of Commerce for specific information. It is scarcely necessary to say that the Queen City thoroughly appreciates the helping hand thus tendered her, and there is every reason to believe that a continuation of this policy will more than vindicate it as worth while to all concerned.—Charlotte Observer.

HEALTH IS WEALTH
by John B. Huber, A.M., M.D.

The first wealth is health; sickness is poor spirited and cannot serve any one—it must husband its resources to live.—EMERSON.

The Use and Abuse of Drugs.

DRUGS are oftentimes used with so little discrimination, with results so unhoped for, in some cases even fatal, that many people, some of them doctors, have come to believe it would be better for our race, far better, if there were no such thing as drugs at all. This, however, is manifestly a wrong opinion. The benevolent friar in Romeo and Juliet was right when he went forth at dawn to gather his healing simples from out the dear bosom of mother earth, which sustains us through ill as well as good. He had the reasonable idea, did this sensible friar, which he no doubt also had the skill rightly to apply. Henry Ward Beecher was as wise when he declared that nearby many a grave are vegetable and mineral substances, by the virtues of which, had they been rightly applied, had they been used scientifically—that is, with knowledge—the occupant's obsequies would have been considerably postponed.

Here is sound sense, conforming well with the fundamental facts of existence. As good sense as when that mediaeval mental healer, Carlstadt declared that "whoso falls sick shall take no physic, but shall commit his case to God." To which the more prescient, yes, and the godlier Luther rejoined: "Do you eat when you are hungry?" And the answer being affirmative—as indeed what else could it have been— Luther continued: "Even so you may use physic, which is God's gift, just as meat and drink are, or whatever else we use for the preservation of life."

But drugs must be used with discrimination and with definite application to given ills. Herein lies, except for the half a dozen household medicines to the use of which we are all accustomed, the doctor's and no one else's. Drugs have certainly, as rich as anything in life can be certain, their good purpose in nature. From time immemorial they have been taken into the body for no other conceivable reason than that they have been needed and have been found salutary and corrective. Many of the drugs are repugnant to the taste, but have all the same been persevered in, obviously because experience has shown them to be beneficial. The wisdom of the ages attest their efficacy. Medical science has studied throughout many centuries these medicaments; has formulated and crystallized the world's accumulated knowledge of them; has gathered them from whatsoever remotest regions of the earth the reputation of them has come—hemp from East India, arsenic from the Tyrol, gentian from the Alps, quinine from Peru, jaborandi from Calabar, and so on. Unquestionably they are dangerous weapons—these drugs, in the hands of those unfamiliar with the uses of them, in the hands of those who have not learned their properties. But their wise adjustment to individual needs is basic to the rational practice of medicine.

COLD BATHS AND CHINESE OYSTERS.

C. J. writes: 1. Are cold sponge baths good to get the blood to circulate? 2. Can you tell me what to take for cooling the blood? 3. I now take sulphur and cream of tartar; is that good? I am very nervous. 4. Are raw eggs good to take?

Answer: 1. Yes, unless for very weak people. Always give yourself a good rub after so as to establish the circulation. 2. Drink water, six tumblers the day; and keep the bowels, kidneys and skin in good order. 3. Yes, but not as a daily routine. It is not good for a young, healthy citizen like you to be constantly taking drugs to move the bowels; that is a sure way to contract the constipation habit. 4. Yes, in moderation and occasionally. They are excellent for the sick, in the form of a Chinese oyster. For the latter put a little vinegar with pepper and salt in the bottom of a glass; then break the egg into it; and over this again vinegar, pepper and salt. Swallow whole. Possibly, however, your blood would be more cool, and you would be less nervous, if you took fewer raw eggs. Cut down your coffee and tea.

INTEREST CENTERED IN GOOD ROADS MEETING

Completing Plans For Big Convention Here Next Week

Committee on Arrangements Preparing to Handle Tremendous Crowd. Big New Auditorium to be Ready for Convention.

General interest is now centered in the approaching annual convention of the North Carolina Good Roads Association, which convenes at Wrightsville Beach Wednesday of next week for a three days' session, and with the completion of the auditorium, which will be adequate for this large assemblage, composed of delegates from practically every county in the State, this will be the most important and best attended convention the association has ever held.

The convention has been well advertised through the efforts of the secretary, Dr. Joseph Hyde Pratt, of Chapel Hill, who has been sending out material to all parts of the State from his office for a month or more. Newspapers are widely commenting on the importance of this convention and are urging the people in the different sections to send representatives. In addition to the reports received from the surrounding counties that large delegations are making plans to be here, information comes from the western part of the State that the convention will be well attended from that section.

A very important meeting of the Executive Committee and the chairmen of the different committees will be held at the Chamber of Commerce this afternoon at 4 o'clock, when the general situation will be discussed, particularly with reference to completing arrangements for providing accommodations for the large crowd. The plans up to the present have progressed most satisfactorily and every provision is being made to provide for all who come, both delegates and visitors. A folder containing general information, including the names of the hotels and cottages on Wrightsville Beach and hotels and boarding houses in Wilmington, as well as other general information, has been issued and will be placed at the union station, the Chamber of Commerce and the Oceanic Hotel for distribution. There is every certainty as indicated from the generous response from the Wilmington people, that the delegates and visitors will be entertained in a most creditable manner.

Cards were mailed yesterday to the hotel and boarding house keepers in the city, whose names have already been furnished to the bureau of information, requesting most specific information in regard to number of rooms, rates, location, etc., in order that this information will be in hand in ample time.

The Automobile committee, which has been preparing to carry the delegates on a tour of the roads of New Hanover county, has been very successful in securing the number of automobiles required, and has practically completed all arrangements. It is announced that the automobiles will leave the City Hall at 10 A. M. Thursday, June 22nd, and the delegates will be given lunch at the plant of the Carolina Metal Products Company, stopping there on the trip around the belt, where they will be the guests of the company.

The convention will be held in the big new auditorium of the Tidewater Power Company, located on Harbor Island, Wrightsville Beach. The work on the auditorium has been progressing rapidly and there is every indication that it will be sufficiently completed by the time announced for the convention.

The splendid programme, which has been already printed in the State and local papers, is attracting general interest, especially the addresses of a number of the prominent visitors, including Mr. Chas. Henry Davis, president of the National Highways Association; Mr. Leonard Tufts, president of the North Carolina Agricultural Society; Mr. C. A. Kenyon, director of the American Highway Association; Mr. J. E. Pennybacker, of the United States Office of Public Roads and Rural Engineering; Dr. W. S. Rankin, secretary of the State Board of Health, and Mr. E. A. Stevens, president of the American Road Builders' Association.

Letter of Invitation.

While a general invitation has been extended to everybody in North Carolina interested in Good Roads, to attend, Chairman McGirt, of the Wilmington Highway Association, has mailed out letters to a large number of the delegates, reading as follows:

"Wilmington is looking forward with pleasure to the annual convention of the North Carolina Good Roads Association, June 21-23rd.

"You are a delegate to this convention. Great preparations are being made for the amusement and entertainment of all who attend. The occasion will be replete with all that goes to make the proceedings of the convention interesting and instructive.

"A very full programme has been arranged. There will be practical demonstrations in road building and maintenance; and the sessions of the convention will abound with stirring addresses by men who have made a study of road building as well as enthusiastic addresses by advocates of good roads and State highways.

"The question of State highways from the mountains to the sea and from Virginia to South Carolina, connecting the leading cities and towns, is now engaging the attention of all thoughtful people, and this subject will be ably and interestingly discussed by men who have given it serious consideration.

"Come prepared to enjoy yourself and share in the feast of good things that await you. This is North Carolina's call and we hope you will respond by being present.

"There will not be a dull moment. Wilmington expects you and your friends."

BUYS IN NEW BERN

Capt. W. H. Newell, Jr., Will Make His Home in City of Elms.

The Morning New Bernian has the following of local interest to many friends here:

"It will be of interest to the people of New Bern to learn that Captain W. H. Newell, Jr., conductor of one of the Atlantic Coast Line passenger trains operated between this city and New Bern, has purchased the J. S. Cox home on Craven street, and will make his home here in the future.

"Captain Newell is one of the most popular conductors on the Atlantic Coast Line road and a desirable citizen, and it will be a pleasure to the people of New Bern to learn that he has located here permanently."

MARKING OUT THE HIGHWAYS

White and Yellow Bands Designate the Routes to Be Followed—Charlotte Auto Tour Deferred.

The appearance of yellow and white bands on some of the telegraph and telephone poles in Wilmington yesterday caused a little mystification to some but inquiry resulted in the information being secured that this simply meant the marking out of the route to Wilmington over the different highways leading into the city. A yellow band, four inches wide, with a white band of the same width under it, has been adopted by the Wilmington Highway Association, as the official insignia for the Wilmington-Charlotte, Wilmington-Fayetteville and the Wilmington-Goldsboro highways.

Mr. D. S. Hines, editor of the Whiteville News-Reporter, who was in the city yesterday, said that the marking out of the Wilmington-Charlotte highway through that county has been practically completed and that automobilists would have no trouble in finding their way. Reports from other counties in this section state that the routes are being marked out for the automobilists who will come to Wilmington next week for the North Carolina Good Roads Association.

The proposed automobile tour next week from Charlotte via Wadesboro, which was suggested by Mr. U. B. Blalock, of the latter place, will not be undertaken at this time, owing to the fact that such a short time intervenes. However, it is expected that this tour will be made later. This will not, however, interfere in any way with the plans of those who expect to take the trip by automobile. The following is from yesterday's Charlotte Observer:

"While the committee went on record as favoring the improvement of the highway extending from Charlotte to Monroe, Wadesboro, Rockingham and on to Pinehurst and Wilmington it could not agree, at a meeting held in the Chamber of Commerce rooms yesterday, to undertake to arrange an automobile tour from this city to either point next week, as was suggested by U. B. Blalock, of Wadesboro in a letter addressed to the local body several days ago. The meeting of the good roads committee yesterday morning was well attended and much interest was manifested in the general proposition of the highway improvement suggested. It could not see its way clear at this time, however, owing to the scant margin of time allowed, to arrange an automobile tour so early as next Tuesday. It was therefore ordered that a letter be addressed to Mr. Blalock assuring him of the hearty support of the Charlotte Chamber of Commerce in the undertaking of improving the status of the highway between this city and Pinehurst and of the committee's willingness to arrange and operate an automobile tour over the route suggested at a later date when it is hoped that arrangements would be made to have the Union, Anson and Richmond delegations join with the Mecklenburg party in a great good roads tour, with fish fry, etc., at some central point. Mr. Blalock will be asked to get his Anson, Richmond and Union friends interested in the proposition lined up and he will be asked to suggest a date that would be most agreeable to all concerned. The Charlotte party will then arrange for the start of the tour from this city, taking on the Monroe, Marshville Polkton, Peachland, Wadesboro, Liles ville, Rockingham, and other delegations en route. At some agreed upon central point, possibly on the Pee Dee river, or at Jackson Springs or wherever the committees in charge suggest, there could be a big jollification fish fry arranged for the pleasure of those attending.

"It was the belief of those present at yesterday's meeting that in this way much interest might be stimulated in the project, whereas if it were attempted next Tuesday, it could hardly be a success owing to the scant time for the arrangements, etc., always a most essential feature.

"It was likewise the judgment of the committee yesterday that it would be too big an undertaking to attempt a trip to Wilmington and Wrightsville and also a good roads tour through to Pinehurst all in one day next Tuesday.

"For these reasons it was esteemed preferable, to the end that the greatest good might be accomplished, to confine the tour to the Pinehurst highway proposition and to defer it for at least two weeks. Mr. Blalock will be asked to confer with his friends along the line and then communicate with the local committee as to time, place, etc.

"Osmond L. Barringer, chairman, J. P. Little and Paul C. Whitlock were appointed a committee to act with Mr. Blalock in this matter from the good roads committee of the Chamber of Commerce.

"The deferring of these plans will not interfere at all with the committee that is going to Wrightsville Beach next Tuesday to attend the great convention of the North Carolina Good Roads Association in session there Wednesday, Thursday and Friday."

PROBABLE CAUSE IS FOUND.

Richard Sampson, Colored, Held for Superior Court by Recorder Empie.

Probable cause was found by Recorder Brooke G. Empie yesterday in the case against Richard Sampson, formerly employed by Shrier & Solomon, who is charged with having provided the means of entrance for the three negroes who attempted to rob the store on Monday night, and he was sent to jail in default of bond, in the sum of $1,000. John Allen, one of the negroes found in the store by the police, went on the stand yesterday and testified that he and John Henderson and John Dewey made up a purse of $12, which they gave Sampson, he stated, to hide Green in the basement of the store Monday afternoon.

Allen further testified that Dewey had opened the door and allowed himself and Henderson to enter the store after dark. They had promised Sampson, the witness said, that they would put everything back, so that he would not be suspected. The State put on other witnesses to show that the store had been entered. Sampson was not put on the stand by his attorney, Wm. J. Bellamy, Esq.

Recorder Empie announced that he would give Thelma Lewis, the young white woman charged with an assault with a deadly weapon, who has been in jail since Saturday without bond, an opportunity to be discharged from custody upon a bond of $250 being furnished. It was understood yesterday afternoon that the bond would be provided this morning.

A sudden attack at night of some form of Bowel Complaint may come to anyone. Every family should be provided with a bottle of Dr. SETH ARNOLD'S BALSAM. Warranted by Elvington's Pharmacy.

DEWBERRIES BEING GATHERED

Going Forward in Carload Lots From Around Aberdeen and Sanford —Market Has Slumped.

The dewberry crop of North Carolina is now being harvested and the picking of this crop is now at its height. Sixteen refrigerator cars filled with berries were shipped Wednesday, says yesterday's Charlotte Observer, from one point along the Seaboard to Northern markets from towns just north of Southern Pines through Abereden to Sanford. The Observer continues as follows:

"Berry growers visited yesterday by an Observer man complained vigorously because of the vagaries of the New York markets. Last month, as an illustration, the prices slumbped from 12 and 14 cents down to five and seven cents a quart, many of the growers declaring that as a result they lost money. This was due, to some extent, to the fact that Monday morning was cold, rainy and unpleasant in New York markets and the demand fell off perceptibly. But the berry growers are to blame themselves in some instances, for causing a glut on the market. Many of growers act independently and ship promiscuously wherever they think their next door neighbors are finding a good market.

"As a consequence when a big train load or two or three train loads of blackberries arrive in a market already well supplied with this commodity, prices drop and the growers are the losers. Associations with amalgamated interests as regards the direction of shipments to various markets would prove beneficial in North Carolina and such things are bound to come as a natural solution of this problem of keeping the prices where they should be and would be, if the crops were wisely handled and marketed judiciously.

"Berry pickers are getting one cent a quart for picking and growers estimated that the cost of a crate of these berries to New York, as regards freight, is about 75 cents. The cost of picking is 32 cents, and the cost of crates and packing is about 25 cents. Then there is the one big item of expense, that of fertilizer, requiring from 500 to 1,000 pounds to the acre. This costs approximately $23 an acre, and requires that the grower should use abundant potash and ammonia in the fall with potash and phosphoric acid in the spring, but unfortunately for the berry growers of the Tar Heel state this season has broken all records in the price and scarcity of potash as a result of the European war, hence the cost of production has been higher and the lack of potash has, in some cases, seriously curtailed the volume of crop production.

"Ordinarily there are about 3,200 quarts of dewberries to an acre under proper fertilization, which would give the grower, at a market price of 10 cents a quart, $320 an acre gross. The cost of crates, picking and packing for an acre, with freight added, is about $135, and to this sum must be added approximately $23 for fertilizers, bringing the cost of production up to $158 an acre, not counting the growers' time, interest and other items involved. This would be only a fair and just average of remuneration providing the markets were always up around 10 cents a quart, but they are not, except during the early days of the market.

"Raising blackberries is a profitable occupation, when highly developed and carried on with some magnitude, figuring closely on all fixed charges such as help, and other itemfs. Speaking generally, it is an industry that will give the average farmer excellent remuneration for the time and expense incurred. Lee county is emphasizing on blackberry culture very strongly and the Atlantic & Western Road, which is doing much to develop that particular territory, is offering berry growers a bonus of $5 an acre for each acre placed under cultivation with dewberries along its lines in Lee and Harnett counties. General Superintendent Edwards declares that it has been a decided incentive to people along the line of his road and he feels very much encouraged. Some 40 acres have recently been added to berry cultivation along the Atlantic & Western lines."

HOW MANY QUARTS DOES IT TAKE TO MAKE A BUSHEL?

Standard Keeper of New Hanover Says it Depends on Kind of Bushel.

How many quarts are there in a bushel? The answer to this question all depends on the kind of bushel you are talking about, according to Mr. G. C. Simmons, standard keeper for New Hanover county. The answer to it, however, will be of considerable importance to the merchants and hucksters in this vicinity as Mr. Simmons has started a campaign of education that will have for its purpose bringing this very important matter to their attention.

Mr. Simmons is firmly convinced that honesty is the best policy and to this end has set out to "break" up the practice, which, he says, has been in vogue in New Hanover for many years of using liquid measures for dry measures. Mr. Simmons explains how this works a hardship to the consumer because it takes only 32 quarts to make a bushel of dry measure while it takes 40 quarts of liquid measure to make a bushel. The dealer, then, who uses liquid quarts to measure such dry stuffs as homily, rice, beans, peas seeds, etc., is able to make a clear gain of eight quarts on every bushel.

This practice is in direct violation of the State statutes, which provide a penalty of a fine of not more than $40 for each and every offense. Mr. Simmons says another common practice is that of using measures that have not been gauged which is also in violation of the State law and for which a fine of $40 can be imposed.

Mr. Simmons has announced that beginning tomorrow he expects to enforce strictly both these statutes. He expects to conduct a campaign of education first because there are many merchants who do not know that they are violating the law by using liquid measure instead of dry measures.

OLIVER-ANDERSON WEDDING IN FAYETTEVILLE PRETTY EVENT

Fayetteville, N. C., June 15.—At 8:30 o'clock last night in the First Baptist church, one of the prettiest wedding ceremonies witnessed in Fayetteville in many seasons was solemnized when Miss Mattie Lou Anderson and Mr. John Harvey Oliver, both of this city, were married. The officiating minister was Rev. Joel S. Snyder, the pastor of the church. Admission was by card.

A color motif of green and white was present in the church decorations of ivy, palms and white drapery, while many candles added their soft glow.

Preceding the entrance of the bridal party Miss Maude Hall played an organ prelude and Miss Louine Watson sang "Until," and "Just You." The ushers were the first of the bridal party to enter the church, Messrs. Bernard B. Forbes and Edmund L. Grady, and Messrs. John Cole, of Rockingham, and L. Barrows Smith, of Wilmington, approaching by separate aisles. They were followed by the dames of honor, Mrs. Ralph Calvert Sadler, of Whiteville, gowned in pink tulle and carrying Killarney roses, and Mrs. Hugh Crawford Chedester, of Detroit, Mich., who wore a dress of amethyst tulle and Faille silk, embroidered in silver. Mrs. Chedester carried sunburst roses. The charming little flower girls, little Misses Etta Hamilton Powell and Elizabeth McKimmon Powell, of Whiteville, wore dainty dresses of white accordeon plaited chiffon with rose bud trimmings, and carried baskets of Colonial daisies. The ring bearer, Master George Louis Bagby, of Charlotte, the bridegroom's nephew, wearing white serge, carried the ring hidden in a calla lily.

The bride entered with her brother, Mr. Waldo Floyd Anderson, of De Redder, La. Her prettiness was accentuated by a gown of white taffeta and tulle, with court train and embroidered with pearl trimmings. Her costume was characteristic of the bride—charming and artistic.

Mr. Robert Marion Woodson, of Lynchburg, Va., was best man.

Following the ceremony an informal reception was held at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. James S. Hall, on Dick street, only intimate friends being present. At 10:28 Mr. and Mrs. Oliver left for a bridal tour in the North. On their return they will be at home at 318 Dick street.

Other out-of-town friends present were Mrs. James Fowle Perry, of Wilmington; Mrs. Samuel Louis Bagby, of Charlotte; Mrs. Thomas Clarence Johnson, of Lumberton; Mrs. Robert Jackson Powell and Miss Mary Lou Powell, of Whiteville; Mrs. Waldo Floyd Anderson, of De Redder, La., and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Oliver, of Sanford.

Mrs. Oliver is the youngest daughter of the late Levi Anderson, of Fair Bluff, N. C., Georgia and Louisiana. Her mother was before marriage Miss Lucy Powell, of Whiteville. She is popular not only in Fayetteville, but in many other cities of the Carolinas. She is an alumna of Converse College. Mr. Oliver is a native of Lynchburg, Va., and though he has made his home in Fayetteville for a comparatively short period, has won many friends here.

MR. W. A. FONVIELLE WEDS MISS PEARL FOGLEMAN

Elon College, N. C., June 15.—One of the most impressive marriage ever solemnized in Elon College took place Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the parlors of the West dormitory, which had been artistically decorated for the occasion. Potted plants and Queen Anne's lace made a very effective background.

Previous to the ring ceremony, which was most impressively read by Dr. W. C. Wicker, acting pastor of the College church, Mrs. W. A. Harper sweetly sang Cadman's "At Dawning" with Miss Lois Davidson, of the college music faculty, at the piano. The bridal party immediately followed to the sweet strains of the bridal chorus from Lohengrin, rendered with sympathetic appreciation by Miss Davidson, who during the ceremony played softly "The Venetian Love Song," by Nevin.

First entered Miss Nina Pinnix, Kersville, N. C., college chum of the bride, who as maid of honor wore a white lingerie dress and carried a shower bouquet of pink Killarney roses. Then came little Miss Mabel Smith, of Greensboro, cousin of the bride, daintily attired in spotless white carrying the ring in a gorgeous magnolia blossom. Then came Mr. W. A Fonvielle, Wilmington, N. C., the bridegroom, leaning on the arm of his brother-in-law, Dr. M. T. McMillan, of Goldsboro, as his best man.

Following the bridegroom and his best man marched little Master Phaire Lawrence and little Miss Emma Williamson Atkinson, charmingly dressed, carrying a basket of rose petals which they scattered in the pathway of the bride.

Following them came the lovely and accomplished bride, Miss Pearl Fogleman, on the arm of her father, Mr L .C. Fogleman, of Durham, who gave her away. The bride was handsomely gowned in her going away suit of blue taffeta with gray accessories. She carried a mammoth shower bouquet of most lovely bride's roses, and lilies of the valley.

After the saying of the ceremony by Dr. Wicker and while the bridal party were retiring from the parlors, Miss Davidson at the piano tenderly played Mendelssohn's wedding march as the recessional.

Mr. and Mrs. Fonvielle left in their automobile immediately after the ceremony amid showers of good wishes and congratulations for their honeymoon of ten days in the mountains of Western North Carolina. They will make their future home in Wilmington, N. C., where Mr. Fonvielle holds an important with the Moore Real Estate agency. Mr. Fonvielle is also prominent in the religious life of Wilmington, being president of the Baraca class of the First Baptist church.

Miss Fogleman is an A. B. and A. M graduate of Elon College, where for three years she has been an efficient and popular member of the faculty in the department of household arts and domestic science.

The handsome display of presents, filling two large rooms, and the large company of friends, many of whom came from distant places, marked the popularity and promise of the happy contracting parties.

A. D. Brown

Wrightsville Beach

Yesterday's Charlotte Observer: "Mr and Mrs. Robert A. Mayer and son, Walter Brem Mayer will leave tomorrow for a visit to Wrightsville Beach."

Mrs. A. F. Vance and her charming daughter, Miss Anna, have returned to their home at Shreveport, La., after spending ten days at the Kitty cottage.

Mrs. J. C. Kelly and daughters, Misses Dorothy and Kathleen, cousins of Mrs. C. D. Maffitt, arrived Wednesday night on the Clyde Line steamer Cherokee from New York to spend the summer at the Oceanic Hotel.

Mr. C. D. Maffitt, who recently returned from a trip North, reports that he found the people of that section much interested in the South and that he was able to do some good missionary work for the beaches. He believes that many visitors from the North may be expected later in the season.

The Clyde Line has put on a special rate of $21.50 from New York to Wilmington for the round trip on the steamer Cherokee for the summer season. This includes the cost of a state room, meals and all expenses for the round trip. The regular rate is $24 and the reduction is made especially for those desiring to visit the beach.

A mammoth United States flag was nailed not figuratively but literally to the roof of the telephone central building at Wrightsville Sound for the flag day celebration. It recalled to the passengers on the beach cars that famous expression, "Nailed to the mast." The pretty little building which is used both for the telephone exchange and for the living quarters of the chief operator was beautifully decorated for the occasion.

ROTARIANS ARE ENTERTAINED

Guests at Elaborate Dinner Given by "Mine Host" Charles E. Hooper at the Oceanic Hotel.

A large slice of Rotarian enthusiasm was transported to Wrightsville Beach last night in the persons of some two-score boosters, who escaped from this city about 6 o'clock via a special suburban car over the lines of the Tidewater Power Company, which took them directly to the Oceanic Hotel, where they were the guests at an elaborate dinner given by "Mine Host" Charles E. Hooper, the popular manager of the hostelry.

"America First, Wilmington Next," was the slogan printed on a large banner which headed the procession as it marched into the hotel, where each Rotarian was personally welcomed by Mr. Hooper. They then went to the dining room for the dinner. Following the dinner a short business session was held.

In the center of the long table on which the dinner was served had been placed a large floral design, the work of Rotarian Will Rehder, who presented it to the club with his compliments. This represented the familiar Rotarian wheel and was unique in that it consisted entirely of flowers. The background was white fever-few while the hub consisted of red sweet peas the spokes of blue sweets peas, and the rim of white sweet peas, the colors represented being those of the local Rotary club. Across the design was inscribed the words, "Wilmington Rotary Club in immortelles of purple. Extending the entire length of the table were vases filled with red, white and blue sweet peas while each guest was provided with a buttoniere of blue sweet peas. The latter decorations were provided by the hotel.

The menu included clam bouillion followed by a planked mackerel, served in regular plank style on wooden pieces with mashed Irish potatoes, dressed with Spanish pimentoes, slices of lemon, sprigs of parsley, surmounted with a large tomato. Next was served clam patties and shrimp followed by a salad course of lettuce and tomatoes. Coffee and cigars and cigarettes concluded the dinner.

At the business session which was presided over by Mr. D. C. Love at the request of President Roger Moore, it was decided to send several delegates to the annual meeting of the International Association of Rotary Club to be held in Cincinnati, July 16, 17 and 18. A committee was appointed to look after the transportation of automobiles across the Cape Fear river at Wilmington next week during the convention of the North Carolina Good Roads Association.

Mr. Love was appointed chairman of a committee to arrange with local Wilmington organizations for securing the 1917 convention of the State Retail Merchants' Association.

Mr. W. A. McGirt, chairman of the executive committee to arrange for the entertainment of the Good Roads Convention, extended an invitation to the Rotary club to participate in he big parade on next Friday night from the Oceanic Hotel to Lumina, this being the closing event of the Good Roads meeting.

Rev. F. B .Clausen, who was one of the guests, made a very helpful and inspiring address in which he expounded the ideals of Rotary and its relationship to the community as a whole, using as his theme the slogan on the banner, "America First, Wilmington Next."

The thanks of the club was extended to "Ole Bill" Rehder for the very handsome design which he had presented to the club for this occasion and a rising vote of thanks to the management of the Oceanic hotel for the magnificent dinner and the delightful entertainment. After bidding "Mine Host" Hooper good night, the Rotarians returned to the city on a special car shortly before 10 o'clock, each booster voting it one of the most enjoyable and delightful events since the organization of the local club.

STATE MEETING OF RED MEN

Wilmington Councils Will Extend Invitation to Have Convention Next Year at Beach.

The Great Council, Improved Order of Red Men in North Carolina, some five hundred strong from every section of the State, will meet next week, June 20-22, in Asheville, N. C., and as usual the two Wilmington councils, Eyota No. 5, and Cherokee No. 9, will be well represented, delegates leaving Monday afternoon, going via Columbia, S. C., to the mountain metropolis.

In addition to the representatives from the two Wilmington tribes, Wilmington will also send to the Great Council two members of that higher circle of Redmanship, these being Mr. E. P. H. Strunck, Great Keeper of Wampum, and Grand Representative J. R. Davis, both of whom have long been prominently identified with the Great Council in this State.

The representatives from Eyota tribe, other than the Great Council officers named, are Messrs F. K. J. Fuchs, C. K. Davis and John H. Davis, the latter being a representative of Cherokee Tribe No. 9.

The Wilmington representatives go to Asheville with the avowed purpose of bringing the 1917 session of the Great Council to Wilmington and Wrightsville Beach. This session will be held a year hence and the season at the beach will then be in full blast. With the new auditorium completed, this will afford an excellent place for the big pow-wow of the Red Men and the local tribes will see that the visitors are entertained handsomely in every way.

The meetings next week in Asheville will be held at the auditorium, and 500 Red Men are expected to be present for the meeting. Grand Sachem D. E. Henderson, of High Point, will preside at the meetings, and the election of officers of the grand lodge will be held during the convention. Commissioner D. Hiden Ramsey, of Asheville, will welcome the Red Men to Asheville and an elaborate social programme is being prepared in connection with the business sessions of the organization.

BOY SCOUTS COUNCIL MAKE TRIP TO LAKE WACCAMAW

Found the Boys at Camp Penton Having a Most Delightful Time.

It was a bright, happy bunch of lusty boys that the members of the Wilmington Councils of the Boy Scouts of America found at Lake Waccamaw Wednesday when they arrived at Camp Penton after a pleasant ride in an automobile from this city. The men liked the camp life so well that they remained for some time and did not get back to Wilmington until late Wednesday night. They found Scout Commissioner Odis B. Hinnant, and Scout Master Heman Shaw in command of the aggregation, which is composed of 50 or more boys from this city.

The members of the party that went to Lake Waccamaw Wednesday were Mr. B. A. Merritt, president of the Council; Mr. S. M. Boatwright, secretary, and Messrs. H. E. Longley, D. H. Penton and D. H. Howes, Jr.

The Boy Scouts broke camp yesterday and returned to their homes in Wilmington. The remainder of the month will be given over to the boy members of the Y. M. C. A. in Wilmington.

ELKS GOING TO BALTIMORE

To Attend Annual Meeting of Grand Lodge in Maryland City in July. "Personally Conducted" Tour.

Wilmington Elks and those from every part of the State are getting "their ducks in a row" for the big Baltimore reunion July 10th to 15th, and it is not unlikely that North Carolina will have one of the largest representations at the reunion.

The Wilmington delegation will consist of about 50, including local member from Whiteville and Bolton, the round trip fare being $14.30 from Wilmington; $15.40 from Bolton, and $15.40 from Whiteville. For the occasion the Atlantic Coast Line is arranging to operate through sleepers not only going, but returning and these sleepers will be "personally conducted," by Capt. E. Cliff Cohen, traveling passenger agent, who, by the way, is one of the oldest members of Wilmington Lodge No. 532.

Captain Cohen says that his line now has the promise of a car from Fayetteville, one from New Bern, one from Washington, N. C., and one from Rocky Mount. If the travel is large enough, it is proposed to consolidate all these cars and operate a special train from Rocky Mount Sunday night, July 9th, reaching Baltimore about 8:30 A. M., Monday morning.

The Grand Lodge met last in Baltimore in 1903 and the visitors remember the fine entertainment on that occasion. Already the Baltimore Elks have raised something over $20,000 for the entertainment of the 1916 reunion. The crab feast, which will be one of the features of entertainment, will take place at Love's Point, Queen Anne's county, near Baltimore. The steamers Dreamland, Susquehanna and Westmoreland have been engaged for the Love Point trip.

COUNTRY AT PEACE WITHOUT SACRIFICE OF NATIONAL HONOR

Achievements of Wilson Administration Epoch-Making, Says Senator Ollie James.

LEGISLATION BENEFICIAL

More Progressive Remedial Legislation Than Ever Before in American History.

St. Louis, June 15—The achievements of the Wilson administration in enacting beneficial legislation and in keeping the country at peace without sacrifice of the national honor were pronounced epoch-making in American history by Senator Ollie M. James, of Kentucky, in his address today as permanent chairman of the Democratic National Convention.

"During three years of its national ga[illegible]," said Senator James, "Democ[illegible] has enacted into law more progressive remedial legislation than the nation has ever had written upon its statute books since its birth. In former national contests in the last two decades our party came as a prophet. Today we come with deeds, not words; with performance, not promise. The Democratic party has kept its word with the American people. We have made good."

The chairman reviewed at length the legislative record of the administration and eulogized the President for his direction of foreign affairs. The Democrats, he said, had enacted a tariff law under which monopolies were curbed and unexampled prosperity attained; a banking law taking the money control out of the hands of an oligarchy and making panics no longer possible; and many reform measures of lesser importance.

He declared President Wilson's Mexican policy and his course in protecting American rights against the encroachments of European belligerents had shown all the world that the President "neither bullies the weak nor fears the strong."

In a concluding appeal for the triumph of patriotism above politics, Senator James said the re-nomination of such a President in a partisan convention ought not to be necessary, and that to discredit him might palsy the hand that could write the peace treaty of the world.

At the outset the Senator referred briefly to President Wilson's campaign against lobbying in Congress and pointed out that under this administration the constitution had been amended for the first time since the Civil War when "we freed the Senate from the control of the great interests by making it elective by the people at the polls." He then eulogized the Underwood-Simmons tariff act as one of which the party was justly proud.

"Not a schedule in it fosters a monopoly," he said. "Our Republican friends told us it would close the factories, fill the streets with idle men, produce a panic, create soup houses and distress would reign everywhere; but we rejoice today to point to an unexampled prosperity in the nation with [illegible] more generally employed, at higher rates, shorter hours, and better conditions than ever before. Our Republican friends tell us that after the war is over poor, stricken, prostrate, torn, bleeding Europe will take our home market from us. I have no such fear. America is going to take the markets of the world. But we shall cut from them the last hope of having even a false issue, for we shall pass a bill creating a tariff board to gather the facts created by new war conditions."

Turning to the Federal Reserve law, Senator James declared that it alone averted a panic at the outbreak of the European war.

"What would have been the result if [illegible] old Republican system had been in effect?" he asked. "The stock exchanges in every city in the world were closed. Europe poured its vast holdings in plethargic streams upon our shores. Who thinks that the old Republican system of finance under the guidance of those patriotic guardians would have been able to withstand this mighty cataclysm? But what was the result? Not a bank closed its doors; not a laborer was thrown out of employment; not a business was forced into bankruptcy; but there stood strong, serving the masses of mankind, this great legislative achievement of the Democratic party. As the greater achievement of Woodrow Wilson, to my mind, next to keeping a hundred million people at peace with the world, the historian will record the Federal Reserve law."

Declaring that "self defense and preparation for it is as necessary now as ever before," the speaker pointed to the administration's preparedness programme as a proof that the party believed in "preparedness without militarism."

"In 1906," he continued, "I attended the great peace conference held in London. I thought that the millenium of peace had come and such a thing as the world's war was impossible; but that day when the Christian heart shall rule the world is not in sight. We must not mistake dishonor for peace, as we cannot mistake oppression for peace. Woodrow Wilson and the Democratic party advocate an army big enough to make aggressors think the second time before they strike a blow. Democracy wants an army and a navy in keeping with the dignity, preservation, and worth of this great Republic. All do not want a foot of anybody else's soil, and, by the eternal God, they shall not take a foot of ours."

Three Years Against Forty.

"During this administration we have done more to build up an army and navy in three years than the Republican party did in forty years of its existence. More has been done to give the American people a navy and army in three months than Colonel Roosevelt and Mr. Taft did in eleven years."

Senator James spoke of the Republican platform declaration for "a continuous policy of national defense," declaring that only two propositions for a continuous policy ever had been made in American history, one, by the general board of the navy in 1903, which was pigeon-holed by a Republican Secretary of the Navy, and the other by President Wilson in his address to Congress last December.

"But what happened when this matter was under consideration in the naval affairs committee of the House?" continued the Senator. "Every Republican member on the committee decided to oppose the President's 'continuous programme' and would vote for no programme longer than one year. After 16 years of failure, even to let the public know of the 'continuous policy' proposed by naval experts, much less to carry out such a policy, and after the Republicans on the House Naval Affairs committee, in June, 1916, unanimously opposed the President's policy, they now say they favor the 'continuous policy'."

The Republican plank, declaring for "an effective system of rural credits as opposed to the ineffective law proposed by the present Democratic administration," was assailed by Senator James, who declared that almost every Republican in the House and Senate had voted for the administration's rural credits bill and that none had charged that it was ineffective or had proposed a substitute.

The Senator also replied to Republican criticism of the administration's shipping bill which, he declared, would have given the United States an adequate merchant marine by now had it not been killed at the last session of Congress by a Republican filibuster.

"For the first time in the history of our country," said Senator James, after reviewing briefly Democratic legislation which he declared had made prosperity possible, "the United States leads the world in exports. We are more prosperous than ever, and mills which have not turned a spindle for years are now busy. All the laborers of the United States are employed as never before. With the world-war raging, our country is the only neutral one that is not in distress and the only one that has not declared a moratorium. Every demand of the stress of war, the Democratic party has met quickly. We have freed business from the blackmail of the politician as we have emancipated it from the clutch of monopoly."

Mexican Policy Like Lincoln's.

The Senator likened President Wilson's Mexican policy to that of Lincoln, and quoted from a declaration of the latter to show that he had declined to intervene when conditions were much the same as now.

"It is a perfectly easy thing," he continued, "for the President of the United States to plunge his country into war if he is a politician before he is a patriot. He would seek his own re-election as he came upon horseback up the bloody highway of contending armies. Of course, our army could invade Mexico and march in triumph to its capital, but after the war was over other armies would march—an army of widows and orphans, an army of cripples and men broken in health, an army of pensioners, and an army of tax collectors gathering up the earnings of the people to pay the great war debt."

The President had acted quickly, the Senator said, when there was an invasion of American territory, and the punitive expedition now was doing all that this country could do with honor in Mexico.

"No President during the life of this republic," said the Senator, "has ever had to deal with so many delicate and dangerous problems as those which have confronted President Wilson. With more than half of the world in arms in Europe, with Mexico in revolution at our border, these difficult and complicating problems have confronted him almost daily, and he has handled them as becomes a patriot and a statesman. When the Lusitania was sunk the militant voice of Theodore Roosevelt cried out for war, and if he had been President of the United States at that time, today 500,000 brave American sons would be contending around the forts of Verdun in this mighty maelstrom of blood—thousands would have been buried in ditches. Our President, patient, patriotic, far-sighted, the real statesman, handled this question with the greatest ability, and won for America its greatest diplomatic victory.

"There are happily two kinds of courage, the courage of the man who is willing to undertake the dangers himself and the courage of the man that sends others to the conflict. Woodrow Wilson has both kinds of courage—the courage of conflict and the courage to act coolly and sensibly when he is dealing with the lives of others—the fate of a nation."

"Four years ago we sneeringly called Woodrow Wilson the school teacher. Today he is the world teacher. His subject is the protection of American life and American rights under international law. And without orphaning a single American child, without widowing a single American mother ,without firing a single gun, he wrung from the most militant spirit that ever brooded above a battlefield, an acknowledgment of American rights and an agreement to American demands. He has elevated himself to that lofty but lowly eminence, occupied by George Washington, Abraham Lincoln, and Woodrow Wilson, the three worst abused and best loved Americans the republic ever grew."

bership.

The following committees were appointed at today's session:

Committee on Resolutions—J. B. Ramsey, Rocky Mount; C. S. Godwin, Williamston, and A. M. Dumay, Washington.

Auditing Committee—Chas. A. Scott, Graham; T. A. Uzzell, New Bern, and E. A. Rea, Edenton.

F. W. Ellsworth, of New York, who was to have addressed today's session, was unable to attend owing to the illness of a member of his family. P. D. McGregory, of New York, spoke instead and pointed out the many advantages in a well conducted advertising campaign by bankers. He told how deposits had been increased by banks all over the country by good advertising and strongly urged the use of local newspapers for this purpose.

Tonight the delegates were guests at an entertainment given by Mrs. C. E. Railing, of Asheville, and Miss Helen Jutta, of London, England, at the Battery Park hotel.

fusal to withdraw the troops, pointing out the falure of the de facto government to lend its co-operation in hunting down outlaws. The friendly purposes of the United States are understood to be set forth in unmistakable terms, and it is believed the note also contains a sharp rebuke because of suggestions in the Carranza note which many officials regard as insulting.

The Mexican situation is gravely troubling diplomatic circles. Three members of the corps from South America saw State Department officials today to learn what is portending in that republic. Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, British ambassador, also talked Mexican matters over with State and War Department officials.

CHAIRMAN WHO PRESIDES AT ST. LOUIS.

SENATOR OLLIE JAMES

Hon. John W. Wescott's Speech Nominating President Wilson

St. Louis, June 15.—The full text of the address of Hon. John W. Wescott, attorney general of New Jersey, nominating President Wilson for re-election, at the Democratic National convention here today, follows:

"Prophecy is fulfilled. The eternal verities of righteousness have prevailed. Undismayed by the calamities of war, unmoved by vituperation and vain declamation, holding to the pure altar of truth, the schoolmaster is statesman, the statesman financier. the financier emancipator, the emancipator pacificator, the pacificator the moral leader of democracy.

"The nation is at work. The nation is at peace. The nation is accomplishing the destiny of Democracy. Four years ago the nation was not at work. With resources boundless, with a hundred million people eager to achieve and do, commerce languished, industries halted, men were idle. The country struggled in the toils of an inadequate financial system. Credit was at the mercy of piracy. The small business man was bound hand and foot. Panic hung like a storm cloud over the business world.

"Now bursting granaries, teeming factories, crowded railways and overladen ships distribute wealth and comfort to uncounted millions the world over. Production outruns the means of distribution. The parallel of American prosperity is not found in industrial history; nor is it causeless. It did not descend, like a merciful accident, from heaven. It is not due to the devastations of a revised tariff. It is not the result of destructive legislation. It cannot be attributed to the manufacture of war materials, constituting a bare 5 per centum of the volume of national business. War is destruction, not production. War curtails international trade. War depresses industrial energy. When the European cataclysm struck the world, moratoria fell like a blight upon many of the neutral nations, but not upon the United States.

"There stands the astounding phenomenon of American prosperity. What is its explanation? The Euclid of financial theory worked to a demonstration, measures for the country's relief. He promptly put into effect the legislative expression of a great programme. He did not talk. He did things. He dynamited the monetary dams and let credit flow to the remotest corners of the land, its spray dashing even upon foreign shores. He released the nation's resources and set the energies of all men free to exploit them. He destroyed commercial slavery. He struck off its shackles. The prosperity of the nation is the product of statesmanship and financial genius. American credit is now limited only by its own honesty and capacity. The cause being undisturbed, the effects must remain. The schoolmaster is statesman, the statesman is financier, the financier is emancipator. With Lincoln, the emancipator of the chattel slave, he will live forever as the emancipator of the commercial slave.

"The nation is at peace in a world at war. America is confronted with appalling realities. It is not the part of wisdom to play with phantoms, deal in riddles, or seek to entertain the national imagination with the legerdemain of language. To build words mountain high as the throne of vanity and ambition should not be an American pastime. An attempt to catch the Presidency by phrases is the work of folly. The function of a sounding brass and tinkling cymbal is not germane to the tragic conditions of the world. When the fate of millions is at stake, it is not the part of any man to stack the cards. With civilization in peril, the sphinx becomes an anachronism. With the whole world tense and anxious, patriotic advice and suggestion are of more value than abuse and defamation. Speculation wilts in the blaze of truth. Abusive phraseology shrivels before the relentless fact. Honesty is the commanding quality of a free and patriotic American.

"What are the realities that face us? In Mexico exist the potentialities of civilization. In her wealth, her history, her schools, her religion, her needs, her very suffering and patriotism lie in the indestructible seeds of progress. To have conquered Mexico would have seated death at the American fireside. It would have destroyed our prosperity and added hundreds of millions of taxation to the burdens of the nation. It would have planted distrust and hatred of the United States in every South American republic. It would have forfeited the respect of the world. It would have substituted the tenets of Imperialism for the principles of Americanism. It would have prostituted the bravery and patriotism of American arms to the greed and avarice of concessionaries. It would have robbed the United States of the grandeur of her mission amongst the nations of the earth. It would have made might right and repudiated the doctrines of Christianity. It would have ignored the fundamental conceptions of moral progress and denied the right of fifteen millions of people to govern themselves. Ambition and greed were prepared to sacrifice America and all that America stands for, in order to acquire the wealth of Mexico. The diplomacy of 'Watchful waiting' averted these calamities and preserved in their original purity the principles of American freedom and justice. 'Watchful waiting' repudiated the brutal dictum of science that the weak must go down before the strong. Help Mexico lest ove rher bloody grave are sown the dragon's teeth of our own destruction.

"War with any European nation would have set the world aflame and stopped the march of progress for a century. Would anyone have had it so in order to affirm a 'virile Americanism'? Is a 'virile Americanism' bloodshed, destruction, the horrors of war and its uncertainties? The substance of civilization is the arts, the sciences, literature, philosophy, industry, the domestic virtues, freedom, religion and peace. But this is the substance of American nationalism. This is the virility of Americanism. It knows no national boundaries. It yet lives in the trenches and broken homes of Europe and pervades its very thrones. Therefore, America lives in the trenches and broken homes of Europe and its thrones. The stupencous conflagration is consuming the errors of statesmen and dynasties; it is not consuming the substance of civilization. Civilization is a unity. War with Europe would have cut asunder the moral forces that bind the nations and left an age of darkness, anarchy and despair. Standing on the immutable foundations of such Americanism, the schoolmaster and statesman, with consummate skill, a skill that commands the admiration of the world, directs the forces of civilization, not with arms, but with reason and moral pressure against the excesses of a belligerent world. With preternatural poise and clearness of vision, he is piloting America through the rushing storm. Who can deny the existence of a moral design in the universe? Who now can question its fulfillment? Who now can close his eyes to the destiny of democracy to make the principles of civilization dominant, to bring the warring nations of the earth together in lasting peace? The passions of men die. The truth lives. America has called to Europe; Europe is responding in terms of a revitalized civilization. The sublimest picture in civil history is that of a plain American citizen manouvering with the weapons of reason and humanity against the navies and armies of the contending nations, and bringing them in accord with the principles of international law. The American standard of peace and justice now floats on the sea. It is unfurling over the trenches of the struggling nations. From the vantage ground of imperishable Americanism the matchless craft of a real pacifist has not only avoided all war, but is leading the world into the ways of peace. What is peace but the assertion of moral progress? What is the assertion of moral progress but the indestructible civilization of Europe and America? From the smouldering ruins of a thousand cities, over the graves of millions of brave men, out of the blackness of the battle smoke, arising from the obscurities of national passions, already the peoples of the earth recognize the dim outlines, growing ever more distinct, of the composite soul of America in the patient and humane wisdom of the world's real pacificator. Of what avail all the wealth of our beloved land if it had been consumed in the destructiveness of war? What avail the travail of human progress for ten thousand years had not the schoolmaster and statesman been pacificator? His achievement is so vast that ambitious men are blind to its reality. But the plain millions, of all creeds and nationalities, recognize in it the imperishable glories of a Christian civilization. It glorifies the peasant and king alike. The schoolmaster is statesman, the statesman is financier, the financier is emancipator, the emancipator is the pacificator of the world.

"Thus is the nation accomplishing the destiny of Democracy. The commanding fact of the modern age is the spread of intelligence. The school house has conquered ignorance. The printing press has transformed the purposes and capacities of man. Education has qualified him for a better existence. The Bible has made him a moralist. Men know that the world is big enough to support the human family in peace and comfort. Men know that the great problem of peace and comfort is not yet solved. They know that it cannot be solved by the savagery of war. They know that its solusion is obtainable only in conditions of peace, reason and a practical morality. This state of knowledge is the crowning achievement of progress.

"The American experiment of self-government has stood the test. The achievements of the American system are known of all men and felt throughout the world. The United States is the world's asylum. Here all races, all conditions, all creeds are assimilated, helped, elevated, and men are made into self-governing men. In America justice has made its greatest progress, because it is progress in which all men have a part. That form of government which affords the fullest opportunity for happiness and comfort is destined to be the universal form. Such is the resistless syllogism of progress. War cannot stop its inevitable march. The opinion of all men is more potential than the opinion of one man. The best opinion of the best men, by the force of example and mutuality of interest, becomes the opinion of all men. American opinion is embodied in a man of peace. American opinion is marching through the world.

"When the Imperialism of Europe cast the iron dice of destiny, America threw the moral dice of destiny. America staked the principles of her justice. There they stand in untarnished integrity in the gaze of a stricken world. The intelligence of men grasps the meaning of America. Her example will readjust the relations of men everywhere. The aspirations of men are for freedom. Men and women can and should rule themselves. The day when they rule themselves war will disappear. The hand of Divinity has so written it in the needs and necessities of humanity made in Its image.

"America, prosperous, peaceful, blessed, is so because the inscrutable purposes of God intended it. The contrast between Europe in flames and suffering and the United States peaceful and prosperous is the divine contrast. By saving the American system civilization is saved. The peace of America demonstrates the folly of war. The principles of Democracy furnish the means of avoiding and preventing war. The universal intelligence of men decrees that the war now devastating Europe shall be the last war.

"Sons of America, keep unsullied the sacred shrine of peace, through whose portals will yet pass arm in arm the crowned head and the humble peasant in silent worship of God.

"Out of the ruins and sufferings of the present conflict will arise a temple of justice whose dome will be the blue vault of heaven; its illuminants the eternal stars; its pillars the everlasting hills; its ornaments the woods and bountiful fields; its music the rippling rills, the song of birds, the laughter of happy childhood; its diapason the roar of mills and the hum of industry; its votaries the peoples of the earth; its creed, on which hangs all the law and the prophets, "Love thy neighbor as thyself." Above its altars in inefaceable color will live eternally the vision of its artificer.

"Therefore, my fellow countrymen, not I, but his deeds and achievements; not I, but the spirit and purposes of America; not I, but the prayers of just men; not I, but civilization itself, nominates to succeed himself to the presidency of the United States, to the presidency of a hundred million free people, bound in impregnable union, the scholar ,the statesman, the financier, the emancipator, the pacificator, the moral leader of democracy, Woodrow Wilson."

days for performing a duty other than that prescribed in his class of work within one working day of ten hours, but under the railroads' tentative compromise offer he would receive pay for only one day and eight hours and the new overtime rate for overtime, no matter what the varieties of duties assigned him.

The proposal that the controversy be submitted to a federal tribunal was preceded in the railroad's reply by the following preamble:

Federal Tribunal Suggested.

"The national conference committee of the railways have carefully considered your proposal and your explanations and their meaning and intended application. In our judgment no reasons developed during our conferences to justify the extraordinary changes in operating methods and practices and the large expenditudes for additional facilities which your proposals involved; nor was anything presented to justify your requested radical revision of the established basis of compensation for men in engines, train and yard service. The present rates and rules are largely the result of recent arbitration awards; and, in our judgment, now provide for the men liberal compensation and favorable working conditions. Moreover, the best obtainable estimates indicate that to accept your proposal would increase the cost of operation of the railroads approximately $100,000,000 a year, all of which must eventually be borne by the public.

"We are confident that you and the men you represent appreciate the responsibility of this committee to three substantial interests:

"First—To the employes here involved whose efficient service is acknowledged and with whom the railways have no differences which cannot be considered fairly and decided justly by some impartial body; to all other employes of the railways whose material welfare should not suffer because of the preferment of any particular ground of fellow workers.

"Second—To the owners of the railways, who have a right to participate in the earnings of their business on a fair and equitable basis.

"Third—To the public who are vitally interested in the maintenance of an uninterrupted and efficient transportation service ad whose ultimate cotrol of the situation we recognize as fundamental."

Mr. Garretson, replying in behalf of the brotherhoods to the railroads' statement said that under past declarations the Interstate Commerce Commission would consider itself incompetent to act in the present case, and that there was no disposition on the part of the men to make it a tribunal for the disposal of wage questions.

The experience of railroad employes with arbitration, he said, had driven a large portion of the union membership against that method, due largely to the inability of arbitrators "to grasp the details and the problems and the inability to incorporate their rulings into language, the intent of which is clear and unmistakable."

No one can say that a threat that traffic will be interrupted has been made, continued Mr. Garretson, and the terms of the Newlands act embrace only these exigencies where traffic is threatened.

"The men at home will never go into an arbitration in which there are embodied principles that deprive them of selling the time they now sell to the companies," said Mr. Garretson in conclusion.

"Had a proposition come from you that, in our opinion, carried in its elements of equity, then there would have been power vested here to recommend that form of settlement. But, when the tentative proposition came in such a way that we could not recommend it you took from us the good offices of the power we had."

THREE AMERICAN TROOPERS KILLED IN ME ICAN RAID

forced by troop I that came from a station on the river above.

The Americans fought from trenches into which they were ordered immediately after the attack began. When they moved out and began the offensive the Mexican were gone.

Major Gray reported that he had been in communication with a detachment of Carranza troops on the Mexican side of the river and that his officer commanding had informed him that his men already had run down and shot four of the bandits.

Mexican Tells of Attack

Vincente Lira, a Mexican, who entered the American camp, several hours after the fight, said he had been made a prisoner by the bandits at LaJarita 20 miles southwest of Laredo, several days ago. He said the party left LaJarita Monday night and moved steadily across the barren country without anything to eat, arriving near the American camp about midnight. The attack was made about two hours later. He said that in the confusion of the fight his guards overlooked him.

Lira's story was partly credited by the American officers. Until a few months ago he was living in San Antonio, while he represented himself as a snake catcher.

The name of the leader of the band has not been reported. Papers taken from the body of one of the Mexican indicated that he was Cruz Ruis, a major in Carranza's army. Army officers, however, believe it not improbable that Ruis was carrying the papers as souvenirs of the days when he was an officer in the government army

Funston Not Surprised.

General Funston was not surprised at the raid. Several days ago information reached here that De La Rosa expected to make an attack at some point. Recently, it was officially announced in Mexico that DeLaRosa had been arrested in Monterey but no other confirmation was received here. In the meantime, he had concentrated some hundreds of his bandit army at LaJarita, in sight of the defacto government troops, who moved north and south over the National railroad. It was reported that General Ricaut conferred with DeLaRosa at LaJarita. The immediate dispersal of the attacking party today is a pursuance of the same tactics adopted by the bandits who raided the border about Brownsville last year. These raids were instigated by DeLaRosa.

General Funston today ordered the 30th infantry that has been held for several weeks to Eagle Pass.

CARRANZISTAS WILL RESIST ANOTHER AMERICAN EXPEDITION.

Brownsville, Texas, June 15.—One thousand Carranza soldiers, ordered to the border to reinforce the Carranza border patrol, are somewhere south of San Ignacio, Texas, and should there be a third American punitive expedition into Mexico the two bodies would clash, according to General Alfredo Ricaut, commander at Matamoras, tonight.

General Ricaut notified American Consul Johnson of the march of these men and the information was conveyed to General James Parker, commanding the Brownsville district.

Paris, June 15.—The official communication issued tonight reads:

"On the left bank of the Meuse after artillery preparation our troops in the course of a spirited attack captured a German trench on the slopes south of LeMort Homme. One hundred and thirty prisoners, including three officers, remained in our hands.

"There was intense artillery activity in the region of Chattan Court and Hill 304.

"On the right bank the enemy violently bombarded the sectors of the Thiaumont fortified work and Souville. On the rest of the front the cannonading was intermittent."

THEATRICAL

Bret Harte never wrote a better story than "Two Men of Sandy Bar," a marvelous filmization of which holds the screen at the Royal today, with that superb dramatic star Hobart Bosworth in the leading role.

Once in a blue moon a comparatively unknown writer discovers a little known phase of life, and in making stories of it becomes immortal. So it was with Bret Harte whose tales of the brave days of '49 are still recalled by thousands of Americans as among America's greatest literary treasures. The most strikingly dramatic of them all, "Two Men of Sandy Bar" not only gives a marvelously true picture of that romantic and adventurous time, but its central fire the "hero," in fact, is John Oakhurst, a gambler, whose picturesque life and character play an important part in other Bret Harte novels of the same period.

Bret Harte lived and died before the "movies" were ever dreamed of, yet his sense of the dramatic makes his books, notable "Two Men of Sandy Bar" seem written for picture purposes. As a production this feature is a big achievement. To bring to live the faded glories of the stirring days of the California gold fever; to preserve the atmosphere; to revive the quaint costumes and customs with so great a degree of accuracy; to give to the character the strength and ruggedness born of light love, deep hate and hairtriger passions; to invest the whole with an air of plausibility—in fact to bring back with virile realism the stirring days covered by the story, was one of the notable achievements of all filmdom, and must be seen to be appreciated at the Royal today.

Virginia Pearson Tomorrow.

Virginia Pearson, one of the most beautiful as well as one of the most talented dramatic emotional actresses on the screen, appears at the head of a great cast at the Royal tomorrow in the exquisite six act Vitagraph Blue Ribbon Feature, "The Hunted Woman" which without doubt is one of the most sensational dramatic screen productions ever projected. Supporting Miss Pearson is a notable cast of Vitagraph stars, including S. Rankin Drew, playing opposite her. With Ned Finley, Denton Vane, Mae Greene, Billy Billings, George Cooper and Frank Currier.

"The Hunted Woman," a sensational story, is one of the greatest masterpieces ever from the pen of James Oliver Curwood. Among the great scenes is a spectacular landslide which imprisons many people, and a great explosion scene which is stated to be the most realistic ever staged for a motion picture production. Intense in its treatment of a stirring story of love, passion and revenge, "The Hunted Woman" will undoubtedly be voted by a large percentage of Royal patrons, the greatest drama of several weeks. However, regular five and ten cents admission prices will prevail.

"The Iron Claw" Lengthened.

The announcement of Pathe that "The Iron Claw" will be lengthened to twenty episodes instead of the original fourteen, made necessary by their inability to complete the stirring story in fourteen chapters, has been haled with delight by those who are following it.

Pearl White, who seems to have been born to play the beautiful and persecuted heroine, and Sheldon Lewis who, by the looks of things, must be a direct descendant of man who was the original inspiration for the word villain—pronounced with a curling lip—with Creighton Hale, the gay the debonaire, all have outdone themselves in this stirring serial achievement.

The current Twelfth chapter on at the Bijou today furnishes new and multifold surprises to those who have been watching the course of this thrilling tale of adventure. There's many narrow escapes for the beautiful Margery, there's more mysterious visits by tha funny character, "The Laughing Mask" and there's a general all-round mix-up that will put you worse in the hole than ever before as to the identity of the mysterious Laughing Mask. And when you see the sixteenth chapter, four weeks from today, you will have to start all over again and dope it out from another angle.

There's some other big features at the Bijou today—including a great Lonesome Luke comedy scream, full of laughs. And tomorrow, Billie Ritchie playing a return engagement in a great two-reel L-Ko scream "Vendetta in a Hospital."

The current episode of "The Strange Case of Mary Page" on at the Grand today gets better, bigger and brighter. Every week sees growing interest in this great serial story—the first one ever produced by the Essanay Film Manufacturing Co., and it is without doubt the strongest dramatic serial o all time.

Henry Walthall, as Philip Langdon, fighting a mighty battle for the girl he loves, is a tower of strength as he risks his all on the moves of the gigantic game that is being played—a game involving the sacrifice of human lives; a game with a stupendous treachery behind it; a game in which the promoters have not yet shown their hand, a game in which a beautiful girl is being persecuted by a villain.

Edna Mayo, the celebrated stage beauty, as Mary Page, the beautiful but persecuted girl, lends beauty and emotional dramatic strength to the marvelous play. A highly sympathetic role in itself, with the personality of the beautiful Edna Mayo permeating every scene of every chapter, makes this one of the most delightfully charming photoplays of all time.

There will also be a great three-reel dramatic feature which is too good to tell, on today's bill. It's a great five-reel show at the Grand today!

Rocky Mount Mill Makes Shipment by Parcel Post.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Rocky Mount, N. C., June 15.—That Rocky Mount is some point of collection for parcel post is shown when one manufacturing enterprise uses $136.42 for stamps in a single day—dispatching 65 packages of an aggregate weight of more than half a ton a distance of more than 12,000 miles. This was the record mailing of the Rocky Mount Hosiery Company one day this week when they used the parcel post for dispatching six hundred dozen hose for Shanghai, China. The goods were for wear by ladies and misses and were shipped to a Shanghai jobber, the total 65 packages weighing 1,100 pounds, though each package conformed to the necessary parcel post weight of less than 20 pounds. About thirty days will be required for the delivery to the postoffice in Shanghai, China.

JOE BROWN CLUB AT BOLTON.

Enthusiastic Organization Determined on Nomination of Columbus Man.

Bolton, N. C., June 15.—A large and enthusiastic number of citizens of Bolton and nearby townships met in the town hall here Tuesday and organized a club in the interest of J. A. Brown, of Columbus, for Congress.

Officers were elected and a large number of charter members were enrolled. One hundred and twenty-two voters of Bolton township have expressed their preference for "Joe Brown" for Congress.

Every day the Brown forces are growing larger, more enthusiastic, more encouraged and more determined. They feel that they have a candidate with a record and they contend that over 25 years of party service and the fact that Joe Brown is the only man who has a distinction of having led his party in Bladen and Columbus from defeat to victory for a period of 45 years merits support.

If Too Fat Get More Fresh Air

BE MODERATE IN YOUR DIET AND REDUCE YOUR WEIGHT. TAKE OIL OF KOREIN.

Lack of fresh air it is said weakens the oxygen carrying power of the blood, the liver becomes sluggish, fat accumulates and the action of many of the vital organs are hindered thereby. The heart action becomes weak, work is an effort and the beauty of the figure is destroyed.

Fat put on by indoor life is unhealthy and if nature is not assisted in throwing it off, a serious case of obesity may result.

When you feel that you are getting too stout, take the matter in hand at once. Don't wait until your figure has become a joke and your health ruined through carrying around a burden of unsightly and unhealthy fat.

Spend as much time as you possibly can in the open air; breathe deeply, and get from Elvington's Pharmacy or any druggist a box of oil of korein capsules; take one after each meal and one before retiring at night.

Weigh yourself every few days and keep up the treatment until you are down to normal. Oil of korein is absolutely harmless, is pleasant to take, helps the digestion and even a few days treatment has been reported to show a noticeable reduction in weight.

The slogan of the club is, "Remember Brown, the man who led his party to victory in the darkest days of Fusion rule."

COTTON PRICES GO HIGHER

Market Rules Firmer, Apparently on Apprehensions of Damage to Crops by Too Much Rain.

New York, June 15.—Apprehensions that continued rains in the South might prove unfavorable to the crop, appeared to be reflected in the firmer ruling of the cotton market here today, while buying was also promoted by further talk of exports. October sold up from 12.83 to 12.99, and closed at 12.95, with the general list closing steady, at a net advance of 7 to 10 points.

Business was moderately active at times during the day but was at no time general and the bulk of the buying was supposed to represent covering by either straddler or local shorts. Private wires from New Orleans said that ocean freight room was offered freely there at $1.75 per hundred to Liverpool, comparing with the recently quoted rate of $2.

Private cables reported a very quiet market in Liverpool and attributed the decline to small offerings in the absence of buying power. The bullish view of the weather map seemed to be based on an idea that the continued rainfall would result in a poorly rooted plant but more bearishly disposed operators pointed out that some sections had been complaining of insufficient moisture.

Market closed steady.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

Wet Weather and Drop in Ocean Freight Rates Cause Heavy Buying.

New Orleans, June 15.—Wet weather over the belt and drop of 25 points in ocean freight rates caused heavy buying of cotton here today on which the market rose to a level of 12 to 13 points over yesterday's last quotations, after decline of 2 to 4 points around the opening, which was due to poor Liverpool cables. The market had a firm undertone especially in the early afternoon following posting of sales of the day of 4,305 bales. Later in the day of the upward tendency was checked by unfavorable rumors regarding the fighting around Verdun. The market closed at a net gain of 9 to 11 points. Closed steady. Closing bid:

STOCKS UNDERGO SETBACK

Dealings Taper Off to Smallest Total of Recent Weeks—Traders Proceed Cautiously.

New York, June 15.—The stock market was in the doldrums during the greater part of today's irregular session, dealings tapering off to the smallest total of recent weeks. Traders proceeded with greater caution in view of the uncertainties surrounding the railway labor situation and affairs in Mexico. The continued absence of public or investment inquiry was another decided drawback.

Interest in warshares was temporarily revived by strength of Crucible Steel and Pressed Steel Car but other munitions, equipments and specialties of kindred character hesitated with an almost equal distribution of nominal gains and losses.

Of all the leaders, United States Steel exhibited greatest steadiness, hovering about it srecent best price. Bethlehem Steel made an advance of 5 1-2 points, regaining that much of its quarterly dividend of 7 1-2 per cent. Rails, except for Canadians, were lethargic Louisville's gain of the past week being explained in the restoration of the regular rate of dividend. Total sales of stocks amounted to 430,000 shares. Bonds were irregular with total sales, par value, $4,430,000 shares. Bonds were irregular with total sales, par value $4,430,000. Panama coupon 3s advanced 3-4, and the registered 3s 1-2c.

GUESTS HAVE NARROW ESCAPE FROM BURNING WOODEN HOTEL

Building in Snow Hill Destroyed by Fire Yesterday Morning.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Kinston, N. C., June 15.—The guests of the Potter hotel at Snow Hill fled scantily clad when the big frame structure was burned early this morning. The blaze originated in the kitchen. W. B. The loss was approximately $10,000 with about $3,000 insurance.

Electric signs have practically replaced all others for night service.

HUNDREDS OF CARS OF IRISH POTATOES DAILY

Are Being Shipped From Eastern North Carolina Points.

More Than 100 Carloads Going Forward Daily by A. C. L. Alone; As Many More by Other Lines—Growers Reaping Harvest.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Rocky Mount, N. C., June 15.—The Irish potato is king in a dozen counties of Eastern Carolina now and the transportation companies are taxed to care for the mammoth shipments and, with the demand continuing, the farmers are reaping a harvest in return that is well worth while. Upwards of a hundred cars a day are being brought out of Beaufort, Washington, Pitt, Craven, Pamlico, Hyde and Martin and other adjoining counties by the Atlantic Coast Line, and it is believed that equally as many or more may be handled by the other system in that section, while schooners and sailboats are delivering them in Norfolk, Suffolk, etc.

The total for the movement to date over the Atlantic Coast Line is 590 cars, which at a conservative average of 150 barrels to the car, makes a total of 88,500 barrels. It is said that the majority of these have sold for $4 a barrel or better and even at this figure the total returns from what the Atlantic Coast Line has handled is in excess of $350,000, with no apparent abatement in either the demand or the supply.

Over against this is figured equally as large returns for shipments over the Norfolk Southern, while with the schooner shipments and deliveries to Suffolk, Norfolk and other port brokers, it is conservatively estimated that the crop has already netted the planters three-quarters of a million dollars, and still there is no let-up.

IRISH POTATO CROP GOOD EVEN WITHOUT MUCH POTASH

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Mt. Olive, N. C., June 15.—The harvesting of Irish potatoes in this—the Mount Olive and Calypso—section, has been in progress now for several days and ,contrary to the general expectation of the farmers, due to the absence of potash, the yield is good, and, although the acreage is somewhat reduced this year, the outlook now is for a yield of about 75,000 or 80,000 barrels. Prices received so far have also been decidedly satisfactory, ranging from $3.50 to $4 per barrel—much more profitable prices than have been received during the past two or three seasons. And local commission men are optimistic over the prospects for continued high prices.

An object of considerable attraction and the subject of no little comment is a Wayne county raised ham on exhibition in a local grocery store, cut from a hog, when killed, that weighed 567 pounds, at the age of 27 months. The ham weighs 47 pounds.

PETITION FOR RECEIVER FOR THE PARKER COTTON MILLS.

Filed in U. S. District Court for Western South Carolina.

Spartanburg, S. C., June 15.—A petition was filed in the United States District Court for Western South Carolina here today by A. H. Heyward, of Macon, Ga., and H. G. Welborn, of Lexington, N. C., owners of common stock, asking a receiver for the Parker Cotton Mills Company, a $15,000,000 corporation, with headquarters at Greenville, S. C.

Judge Johnson set Saturday, June 24, as the date upon which the case will be heard in Greenville.

The complainants set forth their allegations in a pamphlet of 30-odd pages, charging mismanagement of the properties and a conspiracy on the part of the officers and directors of the Parker Cotton Mills Company to sacrifice the Hampton group of mills to the detriment of the common stockholders.

The present situation was precipitated by the recent action of the officers of the company looking to a sale of the Hampton group to Lockwood Greene & Company, of New York, for the sum of $2,550,000. The complaint alleges that this is not a third of the value of the properties and that the proposed sale is the result of a conspiracy.

PASSENGER BOAT SINKS IN THE PAMLICO RIVER

Three Young Ladies and a Man Perish in 20 Feet of Water.

Gasoline Boat, With Passengers and Heavy Cargo, Turns Turtle, on Way from Bath to Washington, N. C.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Washington, N. C., June 15—The gasoline boat Marion, Capt. L. H. Tate, master, while on her way to this city from the town of Bath and carrying freight and passengers, capsized at the mouth of Bath creek this morning at 9 o'clock, in 20 feet of water. Four of the passengers lost their lives, while the others had very narrow escapes.

The dead are Misses Maude Mason, Ruth Brooks, Katie Brooks and Mr. J. S. Woolard, all of Bath. Those saved were Edgar Campbell, William Arnold, Sam Brooks, Surry Bowen, Hilton C. Bowen and Captain Tate.

From what can be learned of the accident ,it seems that the boat left Bath on her regular schedule this morning and besides her passengers carried an extra large cargo of potatoes, which weighed her down low in the water, and it has been stated that the load made the boat somewhat topheavy.

When she rounded the point where the creek empties into Pamlico river, the swells from the river caused her to turn turtle. It seems the women were in the pilot house at the time of the accident and were caught like rats in a trap. The men managed to crawl out of the cabin windows as the boat turned over and were rescued by passing vessels as they clung to the capsized boat. None of the bodies have yet been recovered.

BODIES OF THE THREE YOUNG LADIES RECOVERED

New Bern, N. C., June 15. — Caught like rats in a trap, three women and one man, part of the passenger list of the gas launch "Marion," bound from Bath to Washington, N. C., this morning lost their lives when the boat, which was carrying a cargo of Irish potatoes, overturned, while rounding a curve in what is known as Bath Creek, and sunk beneath the waves. Eight other passengers on board of the illfated vessel had narrow escapes. The dead are: Miss Mamie Mason, aged 14, a daughter of W. W. Mason, of Bath; Maud Brooks, aged 16, and Kate Brooks, daughters of C. J. Brooks, of Bath; J. S. Woolard, aged 60, a resident of Bath. The bodies of the three young ladies have been recovered.

To Be Investigated.

A message received here tonight was to the effect that an investigation is to be started as to why the Marion was overloaded, it being believed that this was the cause of the tragedy. Late this afternoon the body of J. S. Woolard, one of the four victims, had not been located.

UP THE CAPE FEAR RIVER ON A TRIP OF INSPECTION.

Fayetteville Citizens With Capt. Ridley Visit Locks and Dams.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Fayetteville, N. C., June 15.—Thomas H. Sutton, president of the Fayetteville Chamber of Commerce; D. U. Sandlin, a member of the local board of aldermen; Fred T. Hale, of the Fayetteville Observer, and Luther Gentry are making a two-day trip of inspection of the canalization work being done on the Cape Fear river with Capt. C. S. Ridley, U. S. A., engineer in charge of the work. The Fayetteville men left here yesterday afternoon and started on the trip up the river from Wilmington this morning on the government yacht Mercur. They will spend tonight at Brown's Landing, where one of the locks is being built, after passing through the first lock at King's Bluff. The return to Wilmington will be made tomorrow, the destination being reached probably not before nightfall. The nearing of the completion of the canalization work, which will be some time this year, is claiming the attention of the business men of this section, and a strong effort will be made by the trade bodies of Fayetteville and Wilmington to secure for the river the support that will be needed to make the most of the advantages of deep water.

LOOKING FOR NEW PASTOR.

Rev. R. W. Thiot Leaves Tabernacle Baptist Church of New Bern.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

New Bern, N. C., June 15.—Since Rev. R. W. Thiot, pastor of the Tabernacle Baptist church, told his congregation that he could not remain with them longer than August 1st, the members have been looking around for a pastor to take the place of Rev. Mr. Thiot when he departs.

They have several men in view and have written to one or two of these but up to the present time, no selection has been made. The last four pastors that the Tabernacle has had came from Georgia and it is very probable that the next one will be selected from that state.

Mr. Thiot leaves August 1st to take up evangelistic work.

NEW $20,000 CHURCH BUILDING.

To be Erected by Baptists of Washington, N. C., Right Away.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Washington, N. C., June 15.—The members of the Baptist church of this city expect to start work at an early date on a handsome new church which will be erected on their property situated on the corner of Main and Harvey streets. The proposed new structure will cost approximately $20,000 and will be modern in every detail. Plans for the building are expected to arrive this week and it is understood the actual work of construction will begin as soon as practical. The church will be mode of pressed brick and will have ample Sunday school rooms and a large auditorium.

Kinston, N. C., June 15. — Three car loads of equipment for road building arrived here late yesterday from Birmingham, Ala. to be used by contractors who are to modernize between 30 and 40 miles of highway in Lenoir county during the coming few months. The roads are sand-clayed. About 35 men will be employed. The county's convict labor will be kept at work on the present schedule. The contract work is special.

EXPRESSES THANKS TO VIRGINIA DEMOCRATS

President Pleased With Endorsement of His Administration.

Receives Delegation Headed by Col. J. P. Woods and Rorer James Who Present Copy of Resolutions Adopted in Convention.

Washington, June 15—President Wilson today received a delegation of Virginia Democrats headed by Col. James P. Woods, of Roanoke, and Rorer James, the state chairman, who presented a copy of the resolutions adopted recently at the Roanoke convention endorsing the administration. Colonel Woods told the President that the Democrats should make their campaign on the achievements of the administration.

"I had the pleasure of seeing these resolutions when they were printed after the convention," said the President, "and I had already felt the encouragement which they brought me in generous measure, but it is an especially gracious act on the part of the convention to have appointed a committee to come in person to present these resolutions to me. I want you to know, in the first place, that when you do me honors of this sort you make me feel very proud but you make me feel also very humble because in the midst of a great many unexpected difficulties a man can never be sure that he is taking the wisest course. He can only be sure of the motives that prompt him in that course and of the thoughts that lie back of the course.

"I have been saturated all my life in the traditions of American history and I feel that the spirit that animates a nation is the spirit which its executive ought at least to try to interpret and put into action. That has been my endeavor and that I have won in acting upon those principles, the affectionate admiration and support of my native state gives me deep and proud gratification.

"You have over-stated my claims to credit, but I accept what you have said very gladly as a tribute of the heart rather than a tribute of the judgment, though I know you intended it as both, and as a tribute of the heart it gives me peculiar pleasure.

"It is not often that there is a personal contact of this sort in this rather strenuous and lonely business of conducting a government and therefore it was with an instinct of real friendship that you came in such interesting numbers to bring me this encouragement and to tell me that you do believe in the motives and in the purposes that have characterized this administration. I can only thank you very humbly and very heartily for the great compliment and the great pleasure that this visit has given me."

BOOSTING JUSTICE W. R. ALLEN

For Appointment to U. S. Supreme Court to Succeed Hughes.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

New Bern, June 15.—The agitation which has as it send in view the appointment of Judge W. R. Allen, associate justice of the North Carolina Supreme Court to the seat on the Supreme Court bench of the United States in place of Justice Hughes, has spread to New Bern and friends here of the judge are having a lot to say in regard to the matter.

Judge Allen was strongly endorsed for a seat on the bench after Justice Lamar's death and it was thought at one time that he would land the place and there was keen disappointment when this did not occur.

Pressure will be brought to bear on the president to have Judge Allen selected for this place and it is believed here that he will be successful.

COL. J. P. KERR DIED IN ASHEVILLE LAST NIGHT

of Colonel Kerr's death, and wired that he will be here for the funeral.

Colonel Kerr had a varied career, his last post being that of secretary to Governor Craig since the latter's inauguration. He was for many years a newspaper man, being editor of the Asheville Citizen at one time. He was also post master of Asheville from 1892 to 1896. He was taken suddenly ill last February, and was brought home. Later, he returned to Raleigh, but only stayed a week, returning to Asheville.

GOVERNOR CRAIG GRIEVED; PAYS TRIBUTE TO DECEASED.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Raleigh, N. C., June 15.—Governor Craig was deeply distressed by the news of the death of Col. J. P. Kerr, private secretary, which occurred at Asheville this evening. The Governor said of Colonel Kerr:

"Colonel Kerr and I have been intimate friends for a long while. There was no man whose friendship I appreciated more dearly. He was a strong man—strong in intellect and character. His integrity was pure and unbending. His convictions were clear and positive and he had the ability and courage to maintain them."

The Governor left tonight for Asheville to attend the funeral Sunday.

NEWS OF CONDITION STIRS HIS FRIENDS IN RALEIGH

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Raleigh, N. C., June 15.—News from Asheville that Col. J. P. Kerr, private secretary to Governor Craig, is in extremis, has stirred the deepest concern in official and other circles here. About three months ago Colonel Kerr sustained an attack of angina pectoris with complications from which he rallied to the extent that he was able to go to his home in Asheville, and then to return to Raleigh three weeks ago and resume for a few days his official duties.

Some over-exertion and indigestion caused a slight relapse and his physicians insisted that he return to Asheville to recuperate. His condition has failed to improve since his return to Asheville, and now comes the news that there is no hope for his recovery, and, indeed, that the end is expected at any time.

Colonel Kerr managed the campaign of Governor Craig, both in the memorable Kitchin-Craig contest for the nomination for governor and for the Craig nomination that came four years later. He was for quite a while in the newspaper business at Asheville, having been editor of The Citizen under a former management. He is now associated with Col. J. S. Mann, as drainage commissioners for the great drainage project that is rapidly reclaiming the 50,000 acre Mattamuskeet lake bed in Hyde county.

CROPS FINE IN ONSLOW

Report Brought to New Bern by Man Who Made Trip Through County.

New Bern, N. C., June 15.—Mr. J. R. Ball, one of New Bern's well known cotton dealers, returned this morning from a trip made through Onslow county in the interest of Alexander Sprunt & Co, of Wilmington.

Mr. Ball states that he found the crops in that section in the best of condition and that the farmers were mighty well pleased and were expecting to reap a rich harvest.

Asked as to the cotton crop he stated that in some sections the acreage had been increased an dthat the yield, altogether, would doubtless be larger than was the case last year.

LIKE FINDING MONEY.

J. Hicks Bunting Drug Co. Offers Popular Medicine at Half Price.

J. Hicks Bunting Drug Co., the popular druggists, are making an offer that is just like finding money for they are selling a regular 50 cent bottle of Dr. Howard's celebrated specific for the cure of constipation and dyspepsia at half price. In addition to this large discount they agree to return the money to any purchaser whom the specific does not cure.

It is quite unusual to be able to buy fifty cent pieces for a quarter, but that is what this offer really means, for it is only recently through the solicitation of Druggist J. Hicks Bunting that this medicine could be bought for less than fifty cents. They urged the proprietors to allow them to sell it at this reduced price for a little while, agreeing to sell a certain amount. The result has justified their good judgment, for the sale has been something remarkable.

Anyone who suffers with headache, dyspepsia, dizziness, sour stomach, specks before the eyes, or any liver trouble, should take advantage of this opportunity, for Dr. Howard's specific will cure all these troubles. But if by any chance it should not, J. Hicks Bunting Drug Co. will return your money.
